Mexico Warned To Cease Seizing American Lands

Southern Republic Given Two Alternatives for Solution of Confiscation of U. S. Properties.

ARBITRATION URGED BY SECRETARY HULL

Mexican Policy of Expropriations Is Sternly Rebuked in New Message.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(P)—
The United States called upon Mexico tonight to cease further expropriations of American lands without "adequate, prompt and effective payment."

At the same time this government laid before the southern republic two alternatives for solution of their controversy over Mexican seizure of Americanowned farm properties.

The State Department made public the text of a note to Mexico proposing:

1—International arbitration.
2—Monthly installment payments to be made while a two-man American-Mexican committee established the value of the properties expropriated. The sums would be deposited in an escrow account.

Secretary of State Hull had presented the note previously to Ambassador Francisco Castillo Najera.

Policy Assailed.

It made an "appeal most earnestly to the Mexican government to refrain from persisting in a policy and example which, if generally pursued, will seriously jeopardize the interests of all peoples throughout the world."

Hull accused the Mexican government of proposing "to replace the rule of just compensation by the rule of confiscation," and added:

"Adoption by the nations of any such theory as that would result in the immediate breakdown of confidence and trust between nations, and in such progressive deterioration of international economic and commercial relations as would imperil the very foundations of modern civilization.
Human progress would be fatally set back."

The American note replied to the Mexican note of August 3, which rejected Secretary Hull's suggestion of inter-American arbitration of the dispute.

It emphatically challenged Mexico.

CAMP'S CHANCES UPSET F.D.R., AIDE

Roosevelt Is Expected to Invade Maryland in Effort to Unseat Tydings.

By FREDERICK STORM.

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 25.—
(UP)—President Roosevelt tonight discussed New Deal chances in forthcoming primaries with Postmaster General James A. Farley, leaving observers convinced that he would invade Maryland in his determination to defeat Senator Millard Tydings.

The chief executive, who met Farley over the luncheon table and for the greater part of the afternoon, asked his chief political lieutenant to remain overnight at Hyde Park so that they could continue a comprehensive exploration of the situation.

An air of secrecy pervaded the meetings, White House attaches giving no information other than that Farley had changed his plans and probably would be with the President part of tomorrow.

The postmaster general, whose session with Mr. Roosevelt is the first in more than a month and a half, came here with the avowed purpose of having the President fight Tydings on his home grounds.

Meanwhile, it was learned that Farley, optimistic over the chances of Lewis, was upset over the situation in Georgia and South Carolina, where two anti-administration senators are running for renomination.

Advisers have told him, it was reported, that Senator George, recently scored by the President as too conservative, would win over Lawrence Camp, United States attorney in Georgia, and that Senator Smith stood to be victorious over Governor Johnston and State Senator Edgar Brown in South Carolina.

Farley feels, it was understood, that he is in a bad position.

GREATER AIRPORT HELD NECESSITY BY RICKENBACKER

City's Possibilities as Central Point for Air Travel Between U. S. and Latin Americas.

5,000-FOOT RUNWAYS
ARE TERMED VITAL

Larger Hangars Also Are Needed, President of Eastern Air Lines Says.

By JACK SPALDING III.

Airport facilities of Atlanta must be enlarged and a field with a runway at least 5,000 feet long, capable of permitting the largest transports to take off, is a necessity if Atlanta is to fulfill the possibilities of becoming the most important hub of air travel between the United States and Central and South America.

These things were pointed out last night by Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, president of Eastern Air Lines, when he arrived here for a brief stay.

Atlanta Opportunity.

Development of commercial air travel to the nations south of the United States is but a short stride away, according to Rickenbacker, and if Atlanta grasps the opportunity she will be the first important port of entry air stop in the United States for all travel to the south.

The result will be, he said, advantageous to Atlanta with the establishment of branch houses for industrial firms doing business in Central and South America and the location here of a large group of foreign consuls.

Captain Rickenbacker explained that Central and South America are the last frontiers for commercial development and that Atlanta, with proper airport facilities, can be to the future business development in the southern republics what New York now is to water travel.

More Hangars Needed.

Specifically, Rickenbacker cited more land and hangars as the outstanding needs of Candler field.
The planes, he said, that in all probability will make Atlanta their first stop out of New York on the Mexico City, South American run, will call for a runway of at least 5,000 feet.

And as the airport continues to grow in importance as an operating center, the need for new and larger hangars will become imperative. The captain is positive that with proper airport development, air lines will mean as much to Atlanta in the future as railroads and highways do today.

"Nothing can stop the city air-wise, from a commercial or military viewpoint, except inadequate landing and servicing facilities," he said.

Captain Rickenbacker was in town yesterday to attend a meeting of all department heads of his company and to lay final plans for the new line between Atlanta and Tampa which, he announced, would be inaugurated October 8.
The new route will be via Albany and Thomasville and Tallahassee, Fla., and will connect here with other plane schedules to the east and west. He added that stops will not be made at Tallahassee until completion of improvements now being made at the airport there.

'It's Too Much for Me,' Says Judge of 'Bug' Racket

"It's too much for me," was Judge L. J. Brown's reaction yesterday in Jonesboro following the lottery raid near there which disclosed a daily "take" of $10,000. Judge Brown is holding a batch of lottery tickets on which the "numbers" are written. On the desk alongside him are three of the four electric adding machines seized in the raid by a corps of police and agents.

GUARD 'TELLS ALL' IN PRISON DEATHS

15 Are Questioned in Speedy Investigation; Test of Cells Planned.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—(P)— Fifteen Philadelphia county prison guards were singled out for questioning tonight by investigators who previously had heard the story of one who had promised to "tell all" about the "baking to death" of four hunger-striking convicts.

A few minutes after Coroner
Charles H. Hersch and Assistant District Attorney John A. Boyle descended on the prison with a promise to "break the case wide open," a shrill whistle summoned all the guards, some of whom were off duty and were leaving the grounds.

All were lined up in an administration building. The names of 15 were read off and told to remain. Others were dismissed.
The two investigators hurried to the prison after spending four hours questioning Francis Smith, 43, a guard who is under arrest.
Hersch and Boyle, who predicted at least eight arrests, guarded
Smith's story carefully.

Before leaving for the prison, the coroner stuffed additional blank warrants in his pocket and said:

"There are some 50-odd people up there, and it might be necessary to issue a warrant for any one of them."

Smith is one of two guards under bail of $2,500 each as material witnesses in the deaths Monday night.

Slight Relief In Heat Wave Is Predicted

Yesterday's Temperature Hits
New Record With High of 96.

Atlanta looked forward today to some slight relief from the intense heat which yesterday soared to a new summer record of 96 degrees here and went well over the 100-degree mark in several other sections of the state. Airport readings were 99 degrees.

George W. Mindling, senior meteorologist at the United States Weather Bureau, forecast lower temperatures for today but said the maximum would attain 90 degrees.

The maximum yesterday was the first time the mercury has gone above 94 degrees since 1936.

Heat records for the year tum-bled in other sections of the state.
Columbus reported a new high for the summer at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the mercury reached 103 degrees plus, while a similar reading was reported from West Point.

Hurricane Strikes Off Yucatan Coast

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 25.—(UP)— A vicious tropical hurricane, which lashed Cozumel Island with winds of 75 miles an hour or higher, disrupted communications with the tiny dot of land off the Yucatan coast late today.

Last reports from the island, received at 4 p. m., said the island was feeling 35 mile-an-hour winds and occasional strong gusts, and that seas were running high.

Engineer, Fireman Hurlled to Death; Pilotless Train Runs 6 Miles, Stops

XENIA, Ohio, Aug. 25.—(P)— A motive was sealed and taken to shops in Columbus, where it will be examined by safety experts of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Schick said that while the men were horribly scalded, skull fractures caused death. He expressed the opinion the trainmen jumped as the live steam made an inferno of the cab. The coroner estimated the train was traveling 60 miles an hour as the men jumped.

J. F. Henry, superintendent of the railroad's Cincinnati division, said an investigation showed the crown sheet, which divides the boiler and firebox, came off, releasing a blast of steam into the firebox and cab.

A substitute locomotive was obtained in Xenia and the train proceeded after an hour's delay.

Passengers did not know of the tragedy in the cab until the train glided to its gentle stop.

'Business' Better Equipped Than Ever Before, Declares Head of Sleuths

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(P)— Appearance of a witness who placed Tammany District Leader
James J. Hines in the company of Gang Lord Dutch Schultz in 1935 sensationally climaxed today the efforts of Hines' counsel to tear apart testimony that the Democratic boss served as paid political protector of Schultz' policy racket.

A bare five minutes before Hines' trial for conspiring and contriving a lottery adjourned in supreme court, District Attorney Dewey called Dudley Brothwell, tall, thin riding master of Fairfield, Conn.

In breath-taking succession, Brothwell identified a photograph of Schultz, recalled the racketeer as a customer at his riding school, and identified "Lulu" Rosenkratz, Schultz' bodyguard.

Points Out Hines.

"I ask you to look around this courtroom now," said Dewey, "and see if you see anybody here you recognize as ever having been seen with Schultz? Stand up and look all around here."

The witness, a ruddy outdoor man, stood. His eyes roved over the jury, the lawyers, the spectators and finally stopped.

"Yes," he said, "that gentleman right there." He pointed in Hines' direction.

"What does he look like, so we will know who you are referring to?" Dewey asked. "What color necktie does he have on?"

"Red," Brothwell said, and every pair of eyes in the courtroom turned to Hines' flaming cravat.

Brothwell, at Dewey's command, stepped down, went nearer Hines and pointed him out again.

He testified that Hines, Schultz and a woman came to his Fairfield stables to look at the Dutchman's horse, "Sun Tan," which was boarded there, in the summer of 1935.

Defense counsel postponed cross examination.

Twelve large "bug" companies backed by powerful interests are operating in Atlanta and vicinity it was charged yesterday by Superintendent of Detectives J. M.
McKibben and he added a drive will be started at once to clean up the men behind the "bug" business. Mayor Hartsfield supported McKibben.

Significantly McKibben added, in effect, there are not enough police to arrest all the little men, the bankers and writers but what police are after is the men who are backing this racket.

"The bug racket is not going to get any better until we can put our finger on the companies operating," said McKibben. "We may have to increase the number of men assigned to our lottery squads."

Criminal Activity.

McKibben revealed the city's major criminal activity is flourishing on broader and sounder business methods than "ever before," in Clayton county, just beyond the reach of Fulton's police.

The renewed activity against the "bug" followed a raid Wednesday afternoon in Clayton county in which five men and five women, one of them identified by Fulton county police as Mrs. Myrtle Guyol, widow of Eddie Guyol, were arrested.

As Mayor Hartsfield and Alderman G. Dan Bridges, chairman of the police committee, yesterday announced, "they would confer with Police Chief M. A. Hornsby about the advisability of adding men to lottery raiding squads," McKibben drew a picture of the amazing recuperative powers of the lottery racket which was believed sunk without a trace last fall.

He said the racket is "better equipped, better manned and better organized. It is going stronger than during the days prior to the raid."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The Federal Reserve Board said today the lendable funds of the nation's banks increased $50,000,000 to $2,980,000,000 in the week ended August 24.

The supply of idle cash was the largest since July 27. The increase resulted from federal spending, decrease in money in circulation and imports of gold.

DIVERS TO SEEK PLANE VICTIMS

Twelve Bodies Believed In-cased in Wreckage.

HONGKONG, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Divers made ready tonight to descend into 40 feet of swift water near Wangmoo to recover bodies from the Chinese-American-owned airliner forced down yesterday by Japanese machine-gun fire.

Twelve bodies were believed to be inside the bullet-punctured wreckage. The large land plane, attacked by five Japanese planes on its scheduled flight from Hong-kong to Wuchow and Chungking, was carrying 13 passengers and a crew of four.

Only three persons—the American pilot, H. L. Woods, of Winfield, Kan.; Joe Loh, radio operator, and C. N. Lou, one of the passengers, were known to have escaped alive. Woods was the only American aboard. The passengers included three women and two children.

Corn acreage in the south this year was 900,000 acres less than in 1937.

BUYING A SCIENCE BY COOK BOOK USE

Tables and Charts Simplify Problem of Purchasing for Housewives.

Tables and charts which simplify food buying to an exact science are one of the most valuable features of America's Cook Book which The Constitution is making available without cost to discerning housewives.

Two new six-month subscriptions to The Constitution bring America's Cook Book to anyone. The Constitution buys the book, which sells at retail for $2.50, and presents it to any person obtaining the two new six-month subscriptions.

The charts and suggestions, which are but one part of the 1,006-page modern volume, enable many savings to be made while the menus, recipes, guides and suggestions enhance the attraction of the food itself.

Every type of social occasion is given attention. Among important contributors to America's Cook Book are Mrs. Emily Post and Mrs. William Brown Meloney. Order blanks and helpful information in obtaining the subscriptions can be obtained by telephoning or writing the Circulation Department, Constitution, Forsyth and Alabama streets.

Mrs. Fritz Orr Stresses Modernity of Volume Offered Readers.

Stressing the modernity of America's Cook Book, Mrs. Fritz Orr, of 3245 Parkwood drive, finds it a necessity to the modern housewife and hostess.

"The book is error-proof," says Mrs. Orr. "It has all of the facts—the very numerous and many-sided facts—which one must know to deal intelligently with the problems of buying, preparing and serving food correctly."

"And America's Cook Book presents its ingenious solutions so clearly and simply that everyone must understand them almost at a glance. Each direction goes minutely into the question under consideration, and gives the whole picture."

"All of the little, but highly important social graces are taken into consideration. The book really is a guide to pleasant living in relation to the kitchen

TAXICAB MECHANIC FOUND DEAD HERE

Richard H. O'Kelly Dies on Job; Last Rites Set for Today.

Richard H. O'Kelly, 37, of 515 East Point avenue, East Point, was found dead early yesterday morning behind a taxicab on which he had been working in a downtown taxicab company's shops, where he worked as a night mechanic.

A routine coroner's inquest will be held at 9 o'clock this morning in the chapel of Howard L. Carmichael to determine the cause of the death, although relatives and physicians are convinced he died of a heart attack.

A native of Lawrenceville, Ga., O'Kelly has lived in East Point for many years. He has been employed at the cab company for several years, officials said.

Surviving are his wife, a daughter, Gloria; a son, Kenneth; a brother, S. D. O'Kelly, of Lawrenceville, and two sisters, Mrs. J. J. Baggett and Mrs. J. T. Sullivan, both of Lawrenceville.

Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock this morning in the Logansville Methodist church, of which he was a member, conducted by the Rev. J. M. Guest. Burial will be in the Logansville cemetery, under direction of Howard L. Carmichael.

Culinary Tips From Grandmother's Cook Book

ROLY POLY PUDDING—1-2 lb. flour; 5 oz. butter; water; raspberry, currant or cherry jam. Make a paste of the butter and flour; wet it with water, and knead until quite light. Roll it out about ten inches wide and as long as necessary. Spread the jam over this, leaving about an inch of all the edges bare. That done, roll over

"Last night, before retiring, I heard stealthy steps upon the back porch. I must confess, that my heart began to beat in an absurd manner. Suddenly, I saw the handle of the kitchen door turn. I took the loaded pistol from the mantle, determined to defend my household with it, if necessary. In a voice that I tried to make commanding I said: 'Come out or I'll shoot.' From out of the darkness and over. The roll of paste will secure the jam, and the edges must be twisted for the same purpose. Wrap it in a floured cloth and boil for two to three hours. Take it out while hot, and cut cross-wise to serve.

stepped my dear brother John, white and ill and badly wounded. I helped him up the stairs to the room on the third floor, dressed his wounds and put him to bed. He is too ill to survive a Union prison camp, so his presence here must remain a secret. I shall nurse and feed him well, so that he may return soon to his company."—From Caroline Jenkins' Diary, June 7, 1864. (Copyright, N. J. Bond.)

Serve Cooling Fruit Drinks in Hot Weather

Keep your refrigerator well stocked with a variety of fruit juices; also have a supply of cold ginger ale and carbonated drinks at hand and all sorts of delectable drinks can be concocted at a moment's notice. A cold drink and a few cookies will meet many an emergency.

teaspoon paprika, 2-3 cup mayonnaise, 1-2 cup whipped cream. Soak gelatin 5 minutes in water and dissolve over boiling water. Cool and add to rest of ingredients. Mix with fork. Pour into shallow mold rinsed out with cold water. Chill until stiff. Cut in squares and serve on lettuce. Top with more mayonnaise.

Raspberry Sundae. Eight slices angel food cake, 1 quart vanilla ice cream, 2 cups berries, 1-2 cup sugar. Wash berries, drain, add sugar and chill. Arrange cake on serving plates and top with cream and berries. Serve immediately with forks.

If preferred, the cream can be used as filling for 2 pieces of cake.

JAMBALAYA JAMBOREE. Next time you want to spread yourself and do something extra special, try your hand at this Jambalaya from the deep southland. Once you collect the ingredients and get the dish under way, it sort of takes care of itself. All you'll have to do is serve it up and garner tributes from your diners.

Fry 6 slices bacon, diced, with 1-2 cupful (1-8 lb.) diced cooked ham. Add 2-3 cupful diced celery, 1-2 cupful chopped onion, 1-2 cupful chopped green pepper, then brown.

Pour 1 16-ounce can cream of tomato soup, 1 tablespoonful tomato ketchup, 1 tablespoonful Worcestershire sauce and 1 cupful water into the skillet and simmer 10 minutes.

Add 2 cupfuls (1-2 lb.) cooked or canned shrimps and continue simmering 20 minutes. Season with salt to taste.

Makes a lavish topping over steamed rice.

SALLY SAVER'S FAVORITE RECIPE CONTEST. The pepper and pimiento contest proved very popular for letters came in thick and fast, and as one correspondent wrote, "I grow beautiful green peppers in my garden each year and hardly know what to do with them. Am looking forward eagerly to seeing the winning recipes so I can try them too." And here they are:

MRS. E. L. FENN, Route 2, Decatur, sends us a good method of canning sweet peppers. It is a simple recipe and an economical one, and will afford you all winter long the flavorful peppers for decoration and seasoning.

Sally Saver's Favorite Recipe Contest

Something different for breakfast in the way of toast is requested by several correspondents. How many ways do you know to use loaf bread, and of them which is your favorite? Come on, let's get together and help these folks and each other. Sally's calling all the good cooks who always send in such grand recipes, and all the good cooks who haven't yet taken part in these contests to send in their favorite recipes for unusual ways to serve bread for breakfast.

Send your recipes to Sally so they reach her not later than Tuesday of next week, and if your letter is published in this column Sally will send you $1.00.

Mrs. Fenn's Southern Relish is another good recipe:

Canned Sweet Peppers.

Scald peppers for five minutes. Cold dip; remove skins. Pack whole. Fill jars with boiling water. Add 1 teaspoon salt to a quart jar. Place scalded rubbers in position, adjust lid loosely, set at 250 degrees (electric oven) for two hours. Remove from oven and Southern Relish.

1 dozen red peppers (sweet), 1 dozen green peppers (sweet), 1 dozen onions. Chop. Cover with boiling water. Let stand for five minutes. Drain. Add two cups each, vinegar and sugar. Add three table-spoons salt. Cook over fire for five minutes; after mixture boils seal at once. (A few pods hot peppers may be added if desired.)

Pepper Souffle will be new to many people and it is indeed a delicacy. MRS. H. F. RUCH, 1073 St. Louis Place, N. E., Atlanta, suggests you try this favorite recipe of hers:

Pepper Souffle.

Grind 6 large green peppers.

Parboil 5 minutes and drain. Grind or grate 1-2 pound yellow cheese. Mix peppers and cheese with one cup of cracker crumbs. Scald one pint of whole milk, and add to pepper mixture. Add salt and pepper to taste. Place in baking pan or dish.

Hot days are fruit juice days. Whether it is breakfast, lunch, dinner or tea time, nothing is as refreshing and cooling as a drink of fruit juice. If tomato juice has been called for breakfast, try pear juice with a dash of lime juice in it, or a combination of cranberry and orange juices.

Keep your refrigerator well stocked with a variety of flavors. The new stubby or steinie bottles, with their short necks, take up so little room that a great many can be kept in very little space.

In addition to the old standbys, there are some new unsweetened fruit juices in the market that make delicious punches and long drinks. There are a number of flavors, including strawberry, red raspberry, blackberry, loganberry, white grape juice and apple juice. One of the simplest and best recipes for using these is as follows:

A Cool Drink.

Squeeze half lemon or one lime into a tall glass. Fill quarter full with whatever juice is desired. Sweeten to taste—one teaspoon to each glass is usually enough. Add plenty of ice and fill up with plain or charged water. Decorate with a sprig of mint and one or two pieces of fresh fruit or whole strawberries and raspberries.

Homemade Ice Cream Soda. A more filling drink but one equally cooling is made as follows: Fill a tall glass quarter full, using any of the berry juices or purple grape juice. Put a scoop of vanilla ice cream in each glass and fill up with ginger ale or soda. This is a glorified ice cream soda, all the better for being made at home.

Here are some excellent recipes for cookies you will delight in having on hand to serve with cold drinks.

Butterscotch Sticks.

Three egg yolks, 1 cup dark brown sugar, 1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla; 1-2 cup broken cashew nuts, 3 egg whites, beaten.

Beat yolks and sugar. Add rest of the ingredients and mix lightly. Pour into a shallow pan fitted with waxed paper. Bake 25 minutes in a moderate oven. Cut into bars and roll in confectioner's sugar.

Chocolate Brownies. One-third cup butter, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1-4 cup milk, 2 squares chocolate, melted, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup nuts, broken; 1 cup flour, 1-4 teaspoon baking powder, 2 eggs.

Cream the butter and sugar. Add rest of the ingredients and beat two minutes. Pour into a shallow pan lined with waxed paper and bake 25 minutes in a moderate oven. Cool and cover with chocolate frosting. Cut in small squares or bars.

DEADLINE TODAY FOR FILM ESSAYS

Contest Closes at 10 O'Clock
Sharp; Three-Week Trip Is Prize.

Many hundreds of Marie Antoinette essays have come in, but there is still time for others. Not until the clock chimes 10 o'clock this morning will the office of the Contest Editor be closed to entrants. And after that time, even one minute after that time, no excuse whatever will soften the heart of the editor, to the extent of receiving others.

Don't let a few minutes' time deprive you of at least a chance to win a glorious three weeks' all-expense trip to France, where the entire time may be spent in Paris, or divided into a week's visit in Paris and two weeks in any one of the four other French provinces—La Vallée de La Loire, La Cote d'Azur, La Savoie or La Cote Basque.

300-Word Maximum.
If yours is not one of the essays already in, bring it in immediately—an essay on the subject "Why I Should Like to Visit the Country of Marie Antoinette" with a maximum of 300 words.

Four round-trip all-expense trips, via railroad from the homes of the winners and thence via French liners to Paris, will be awarded to persons in the United States writing the best stories. There is no reason why one of these trips should not be awarded to an Atlantan or a Georgian.

Cash Prizes.
In addition to the European trips, Loew's Grand and The Atlanta Constitution offer cash prizes of $25, $15 and $10 for the three most acceptable essays submitted in this territory, and in addition, 50 pairs of guest tickets to the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Marie Antoinette," opening at Loew's Grand today.

Better get your story in immediately, to the desk of the "Marie Antoinette" Contest Editor, fourth floor of The Constitution building. If possible to finish the judging, local winners will be announced in Sunday's Constitution.

NAMED COUNTY AGENT.

that the President should deliver a hard-hitting speech in Baltimore, giving the voters a word picture of what has been done for the state in the way of social and economic rehabilitation and also "read the record" on Tydings, with emphasis on New Deal legislation.

Tydings, denounced in a press conference by the President as a "betrayer," has challenged the latter to come into the state where he is being opposed by Representative David J. Lewis.

Should Mr. Roosevelt heed his advice, it was generally believed that he would select a Labor Day rally at which to make his arguments.

It was assumed that the President and Farley also went thoroughly into the New York state political situation that is highlighted by a New Deal effort to unseat Representative John O'Connor.

Mr. Roosevelt, it was believed, discussed with Farley the defeat of Senator Pope, of Idaho, pro-administration Democrat. It was regarded as a certainty that he would receive from Farley his opinion as to whether it would be politically wise for Pope to run as an independent in the fall elections.

MEXICO IS WARNED TO CEASE SEIZURES

Policy of Expropriation Is Rebuked in Stern
Language.

ico's principal arguments and said that her "subsidiary questions" need not be considered until "the principle of just compensation has been recognized."

Mexico's contention that America was seeking unequal treatment for Americans, in view of the fact that Mexicans whose lands were expropriated also were receiving nothing, came in for special criticism from Hull.

"It is contended, in a word," he said, "that it is wholly justifiable to deprive an individual of his rights if all other persons are equally deprived, and if no victim is allowed to escape." He added:

"When aliens are admitted into a country the country is obligated to accord them that degree of protection of life and property consistent with the standards of justice recognized by the law of nations. It is far from legitimate for the Mexican government to attempt to justify a policy which in essence constitutes bald confiscation by raising the issue of the wholly inapplicable doctrine of equality."

Profound Regret.

Hull said this government has received "not only with surprise but with profound regret" the contention of Mexico that "there does not exist in international law any principle universally accepted by countries that would render obligatory the giving of adequate compensation for expropriations of a general and impersonal character."

"I do not hesitate," he declared,
"to maintain that this is the first occasion in the history of the western hemisphere that such a theory has been seriously advanced."

Secretary Hull rejected Mexico's contention that "it may expropriate property and pay therefor, in so far as its economic circumstances and its local legislation permit, but that if these circumstances and legislation do not make possible the payment of compensation it can still take the property."

Reiterates Proposal.

If it were true, he said, "governments would be free to take private property far beyond or regardless of their ability or willingness to pay, and the owners thereof would be without recourse. This, of course, would be unadulterated confiscation."

Hull said he found it "necessary emphatically to state that after many years of patient endeavor on the part of this government to obtain just satisfaction for these claims without success, the government of the United States has regretfully reached the conclusion that it is impossible to adjust them by diplomacy."

He therefore reiterated his proposal of July 21 that the question should be arbitrated by an inter-American commission.

Nevertheless, Mexico having proposed a two-man committee to evaluate the properties, he accepted the suggestion as an alternative, although, he said, "we have held conversations with regard to payment for many years without result."

He requested that Mexico
"speedily indicate" its willingness to accept one of the two alternatives proposed.

MEXICO MAY ACCEPT
HULL'S SUGGESTION

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 25.—(AP)—
A source close to the government indicated unofficially tonight Mexico might accept in principle Secretary Hull's suggestion that farm land seizures be submitted to a two-man commission.

Officially, the government remained silent on the American secretary of state's message which was considered much more emphatic than his previous note on the subject July 21.

The unofficial source said there were "some complicating factors" entering into the suggestion for a two-man commission composed of an American and a Mexican to study the land expropriations.

night in a punishment cellblock where windows were closed and steam heat turned on in radiators along a corridor.

Hersch said the temperature must have been nearly 200 degrees in the stuffy cells where the prisoners, isolated for participating in the strike, passed a "night of horror."

Boyle said Smith "gave us very valuable information."

Two stenographers took down his account, which Boyle said ran into "thousands of words."

Neither Boyle nor Hersch indicated who they would question at the prison, but said Smith's story did not implicate William B. Mills, prison superintendent.

As they advanced their investigation, state investigators planned to convert the punishment cells into test tubes in an experiment with death.

Charles I. Engard, state secretary of welfare, arranged the experiment.

He said men from his department and two state policemen would enter the cells, "turn on the heat," and see whether they could endure conditions the corner compared to "the black hole of Calcutta" where more than 100 suffocated in the eighteenth century.

Deliberately Planned.

"What we want to find out," he said, "is whether the isolation cell block was a deliberately planned roaster."

Mills said if the cellblock was planned intentionally to "roast" unhappy prisoners, he knew nothing about it.

"Someone as yet unknown closed the windows in the cell block," he said, "and turned on the steam radiators. The radiators are in a corridor and could not be reached by any of the prisoners."

The second guard arrested yesterday by order of Mayor Wilson was Alfred W. Brough, 39. He and Smith at first were charged with homicide, then placed under $2,500 bail each as material witnesses when the assistant district attorney asked that their testimony be withheld until a later time.

Candidates' Tongues Sharp
As Vote Swiftly Approaches

Talmadge Charges 'Much Coercion and Outright Falsehood' Used in Effort to Dupe Voters; Camp Declares George Fought Against Farmer.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Sharp campaign charges quickened yesterday, keeping pace with the swift approach of the poll deadline in Georgia's September 14 primary.

Names were named in both gubernatorial and senatorial contests, and charges met countercharges in a full-blown day of political oratory.

Ex-Governor Eugene Talmadge charged at Louisville his opponents were "using many persuasions, much coercion, and outright falsehoods in an effort to deceive and dupe the voters." He carried on his senate campaign speaking over the radio here last night.

Camp Hills Corporations. Lawrence S. Camp, United States district attorney in the senate race, told a Springfield audience that big corporations "dominated" Senator George. Then he said "Corporations are not people. They have no souls, sympathies, gratitude or remembrances." He charged the senator "fought President Roosevelt's policy of promotion of the farmers' interests."

Asserting his foes had failed to propose any definite program "to restore business prosperity," William G. McRae, Atlanta attorney seeking senate nomination, discussed the Townsend plan as a solution to the nation's "economic distress" in speeches at Buena Vista, Ellaville and Butler.

Governor Rivers mentioned no names in his addresses at Douglas and Rochelle but said all eligible old people would be drawing their pensions now "if we had not been fought and hamstrung by the enemies of the people's program." He said the state welfare program brought $22,000,000 to Georgia's needy the first year of operation.

Hugh Howell, Atlanta attorney seeking to unseat Rivers, told a Griffin audience "Georgia today is paying from six to eight million dollars more money for personal services than was being paid at the beginning of Ed Rivers' administration," and pledged that "when I am governor the unreasonable amount of salaries being paid will be reduced."

John J. Mangham, Bremen farmer-businessman seeking the governorship, challenged Governor Rivers to state "whether he is co-operating with the federal government" in the senatorial race. He said the people could decide whether their tax burdens were too great rather than risk the judgment of a Governor who has no regard for the other fellow's tax bill.

The trial of several "big bug" firms last fall. It is taking in thousands of dollars daily. Wednesday night's raid showed that $10,000 had been collected by one "bug" operating company in a single day's operation. On this basis if 12 companies of similar size are operating in and around Atlanta, the daily collections would exceed $120,000.

Meanwhile Atlanta and Fulton county police sought not only to increase forces to smash the racket, but to consolidate forces. This was in line with a suggestion by Mayor Hartsfield, who said "breaking up the racket calls for co-operation."

Co-operation Urged.

The mayor agreed that more men may have to be assigned to "bug" activities, and said "the Atlanta police department cannot be responsible for lottery operations carried on in surrounding counties."

"This situation calls for complete co-operation between all officers of this section," he continued. "They must strike at headquarters to get the big shots. As long as the big shots go free, they can hire as many small-time writers and pick-up men as they want."

In discussing the situation, Superintendent McKibben said he was investigating reports that the defunct Home Company, which

SHE ALSO GIVES WRONG ADDRESS

Mrs. Myrtle Guyol, widow of the slain lottery chieftain, Eddie Guyol, who county police said gave a fictitious name when arrested Wednesday night in a lottery raid, apparently gave a false address also, it was revealed yesterday.

She gave her name as Mary Hamilton, of 514 Parkway drive, but the owner of the apartment at Parkway address reported no person answering that name lived at that address.

flourished under the leadership of the late Eddie Guyol, was again operating and that several old-time lottery men were re-engaged in the racket.

McKibben said of the 12 big companies operated by white persons, more than half are in Fulton county. They are in a neighboring county, where Fulton county police and the Atlanta police can't get at them. The operators know this and seem to laugh in our faces. It's an angle that makes it tough for us to break it up."

Action Begun.

McKibben said action had already been started, with a city-wide checkup under way to determine extent of the organization of lottery operators.

Fulton county police yesterday kept sharp watch on roads leading out of that county, in hopes of "spotting" automobiles speeding toward headquarters in near-by counties.

S. D. Vaughn and Jesse Anderson, assigned to the solicitor general's lottery raiding squad during the 60-day "bug" probe by the grand jury last fall, followed up leads on lottery activities. They made no arrests, however.

Judge Jesse M. Wood, of Fulton criminal court, commented on the lottery raid Wednesday, in which stubs representing a daily play of $10,000 were seized, and said:

"Proper co-operation between police, courts and other law enforcing bodies can stamp out the lottery evil."

Judge Wood has been sentencing second offenders on lottery charges to straight terms on public works jobs.

County police and city officials said the seizure of the lottery equipment and arrests Wednesday in Clayton county were a matter for the Clayton grand jury to investigate.

All of those arrested were free on bonds yesterday. Women were listed by police as Mary Hamilton, 30, identified as Mrs. Guyol; Helen Wilson, 31; Eunice Gaaway, 28; Ruth Williams, 24, and Juanita Langston, 18.

Men were booked as Frank Martin, 36; John Witt, 26; E. D. West, 40; Andrew Crowder, 26, and Tom Bradley, 35.

Six Fulton county policemen and three members of the state revenue commission, led by an officer of the Federal Alcohol Tax Unit, staged the raid expecting to find illegal whiskey.

Instead they found the men and women working busily with four electrically operated adding machines among piles of lottery tickets. The house, a one-story structure almost hidden from view by dense hedges and shrubbery, is known as the "Old Ben Bell Place."

Indication that the "bug" racket still was in operation yesterday despite the raid came with arrest by city detectives of a 40-year-old negro woman listed as Lillie Iverson in possession of $5 worth of "bug" tickets in a Capitol avenue house.

RIVERS OUTLINES SCHOOL PROGRESS

Cites 'Milestones of Achievement' in Popular Education' He Sponsored.

ROCHELLE, Ga., Aug. 25.—(P)—Governor Rivers listed today as "milestones of achievement in popular education," the full payment of teachers, free textbooks for children and approximately 100 per cent increase in appropriations.

"No child has been denied the right to improve his lot in life," the Governor told a campaign audience. "The school doors of Georgia have been opened and kept open for at least seven months everywhere in Georgia."

State Support.

The 1937 regular session of the legislature enacted a measure providing the state should support the public schools seven months in each school term.

Rivers said the teachers had been paid in full the first year of the new bill's operation "and at better salaries than ever before received, so that they can perform with greater enthusiasm their important work for social democracy."

Douglas Speech.

Before coming here Rivers told a Douglas crowd his administration was the "first to have the state government take care of the old people." He said all the aged eligible "would be drawing pensions now... if we had not been fought and hamstrung by enemies of the people's program."

He said here the "banner of free education in Georgia" was the "best insurance our democracy can have."

Stressing state co-operation with the federal government, he cited an increase of government funds coming to Georgia for vocational rehabilitation.

BEE CAUSES DEATH.

TAUNTON, Mass., Aug. 25.—(UP)—Charles Murray, 15, was thrown to his death from a rumble seat today when the car smashed into a tree after the driver, stung by a bee, lost control.

Camp Attacks 'Big Corporations,' Which He Says Dominate Georgia

They Have 'No Souls, Sympathies, Gratuities or Remembrances,' Senatorial Candidate Tells Crowd at Springfield; Praises President Roosevelt.

SPRINGFIELD, Ga., Aug. 25.—(P)—Lawrence S. Camp asserted today that corporations, which he charged with "dominating" Senator George, "have no souls, sympathies, gratuities or remembrances."

Saying corporations "are not people," the federal attorney told a campaign crowd "George has lived so long under domination of the corporation class, that he has forgotten people."

Camp declared "if George understood people instead of the big corporations, he would know that what we care about are our homes, our children, our aged; that we will never turn our backs on the one man who has helped us with these plain every-day loves."

Refers to Roosevelt.

He was referring to President Roosevelt, whose personal indorsement was given his campaign for the senate.

The candidate referred again to what "somebody had said" of Washington columnist about "my having no money and no organization," and made this reply: "The first charge is true but not the second. You don't see any-or a total of $1,560,000 for the period.

Stryker sliced this figure in two $780,000—reduced $275,000 for Schultz's share, although Weinberg had estimated this was the amount the gang chief had received over a period of four years, and then asked Weinberg what had happened to the remaining $505,000.

Weinberg said the banks had a capital of about $300,000 after the fixing period ended, but that the money was largely on paper and that he had given Schultz large amounts.

The juggling of the figures by Stryker, with corrections by Weinberg, continued. Finally Stryker asked:

"Weinberg, you would have no scruple, would you, to stealing that money yourself?"

"Well, I couldn't steal it," Weinberg answered quietly.

"Would you have any scruple against stealing, pilfering it as a thief?" roared Stryker.

"I don't believe I would steal it," reported Weinberg.

"You have been a thief haven't you?" Stryker thundered.

"When I was a kid," Weinberg said.

Stryker, taking a fresh tack, began asking Weinberg about the burglary business.

Weinberg answered, amending his remarks to say that he was only a "kid" when convicted, that he had not expected to take part in the planned burglary, but was merely to drive the robbers in his taxi-cab.

Point Stressed.

The point, made after reference to Weinberg's grand jury testimony and to a statement he made to District Attorney Dewey on the 16, was stressed by Stryker who sought to show that Weinberg changed the date only after the prosecution had learned Hines was in Hot Springs, Ark., in March.

Weinberg, unruffled, insisted he had not been coached to change the date, but that he had changed after coddling his memory of the time and other facts.

It was at the 1932 meeting, Weinberg testified, that Schultz ordered him to give Hines a $1,000 retainer and make arrangements for further payments which the state contends ran into thousands of dollars, all of which were marked up as expenses incurred by the $20,000,000-a-year policy racket.

Accused of Theft.

Earlier Stryker, seeking to destroy Weinberg's credibility, virtually had accused him of stealing $300,000 from the policy banks' capital, and had repeatedly challenged him to remember dates and events as readily as he had "remembered them for Mr. Dewey."

Supreme Court Justice Pecora occasionally took over Weinberg's examination.

Stryker made another point of Weinberg's failure to tell the jury Monday what he had told the grand jury:

That Martin (Moe) Weintraub, named with Hines and seven others, was granted a variance when Hines went on trial. Weinberg, also a co-defendant, pleaded guilty.

"Isn't the real reason you didn't mention Weintraub that you wanted to keep his name off the record?" Stryker asked.

Weintraub protested that wasn't so.

"Isn't it a fact that you sat in the cell with Dixie Davis and framed up that story of the Capshaw meeting?" Stryker shouted.

Again Weinberg shook his head and said he was telling the truth.

The lawyer asked Weinberg about the 156-day period in 1933 when the Schultz gang, through the connivance of Otto Abadaba Berman, allegedly fixed pari-mutuel results at race tracks to forestall a big hit on their policy banks.

The gross income of the racket in the 156-day period was $40,000 a day, Weinberg admitted. With expenses deducted the net would be about $10,000 he said.

Accusation Shouted.

Stryker never permitted the jury to forget that Weinberg had been convicted of conspiracy to commit a burglary 20 years ago.

He shouted the accusation at Weinberg, but the gangster never indicated he was dismayed.

Not even when Stryker called him a perjurer and a thief and asked him point blank if he had not double-crossed the mob and stolen $300,000 did Weinberg's face betray any mental discomfort.

ATLANTA, GA., AUGUST 26, 1938.

BACTERIA POLITICO FANTASIA

There occurs in Georgia, at stated intervals, a strange and virulent disease. It must be caused by some hitherto unidentified germ.

Fortunately the disease, though widespread, is rarely fatal. But its symptoms are so peculiar, its victims act in so strange a manner, totally alien to their normal processes of thought and speech, they are easily recognizable.

Take, for instance, Judge R. Earl Camp, a sufferer from the disease in extreme form.

Normally Judge Camp is one of the most likeable, logical and reasonable of gentlemen. A scholar, too. One whom it is a pleasure to know and an honor to count as friend.

Yet Judge Camp, no later than Wednesday of this week, declared the vast majority of Georgia newspaper publishers and editors are venal scoundrels, their very souls for sale to the highest bidder. He intimated they could be bought "with a few shares of power company stock." He didn't even believe it would take many shares, you notice, just "a few."

Judge Camp is a campaign aide of Lawrence Camp, the Roosevelt anointed candidate for the United States senate. The judge, in inferring that every newspaper opposing his candidate is venal, left but few honest publishers in the state. For there are, in truth, very few for Camp.

Judge Camp, in normal condition, knows that the honesty of newspaper publishers and editors will average as high as that of other men. The judge has counted many newspaper publishers among his friends and has never hesitated to place trust and confidence in them.

Yet, while under the effects of bacteria politico fantasia, Judge Camp would have all Georgia believe he classes 90 per cent of Georgia newspaper publishers as cheap crooks, ready to sell out their country, the freedom of the press and their own self-respect, for "a few shares of power company stock." The only honest publishers, he infers with solemn face, are the ten per cent—approximately—who editorially support his candidate.

Of course, Georgia newspaper men do not resent these fantastic remarks by the judge. For they recognize he is not his normal, congenial and kindly self. He is just as much the victim of disease as is a sufferer from temporary amnesia.

The judge will be glad to apologize—on September 15. For he will be cured by then of his strange aberrations.

However, judge, there is no apology necessary. We know you didn't mean it. You were only politically speaking.

DEATH BELOW RAILS

A hint from the "Seven Pillars of Wisdom" has been taken by the Chinese, and a new Lawrence rides the fertile reaches of the dragon land. While Japanese planes unload death and destruction from their bomb racks over the Canton-Hankow railroad. Chinese guerrilla forces slip through the night and place high explosives along the Peiping-Hankow railroad, tripping death from below as the troop trains pass over.

Three such trains have been destroyed within the last week. It has been reported from Peiping, heart of the Japanese-controlled North China government. From this source they may be given full credence.

Lawrence, in Arabia, developed the destruction of roadbeds, over which Turkish troops and supplies passed, into a fine art, and the lesson apparently has been well learned by the Chinese guerrilla forces. As has been noted previously, these "partisan" irregulars operate with impunity in the heart of the territory "conquered" by the Nipponese.

The tactics of Lawrence played a vital role in the demoralization of Turkish operations and in the victory of the Arabian and British troops. Will history repeat?

Laundry strikers in the west are refused an injunction, and we hope to be among the first hundred to report a lost union suit.

A Hines trial witness says he didn't know all the alphabet—"Just from A to Z." At that, he'll do better than many a stadium usher.

What is anyone showing for samples these days, when selling civilization to the untutored savage?

George, of Georgia, seems to welcome a showdown with the chief on the purge issue. As for Maryland, though, one hears nothing of glad Tydings.

A western heir finds $1,870 tucked away in an old Bible. So much for our writers' plaint that there is no money these days in good literature.

FRANK HAWKS

It is unfortunate for the cause of aviation that so many of the men who won fame in the early days of the profession should meet death in the air. The latest, Frank Hawks, goes to join a goodly company of fellow eagles of the sky, to compare notes in some aviators' heaven where wings do not fail and crashes are unknown.

That Hawks died while piloting what was supposed to be an unusually safe craft, that he had abandoned the "dangerous flying" through which he won highest honor, adds to the emphasis of tragedy. It seems there is a fate which pursues these geniuses of flight, a foreordained doom that they shall end their lives through the agency to which they have consecrated themselves. Probably they would wish it so.

But the death of Hawks, as of others of parallel fame who preceded him, need not lessen the confidence the general public is rapidly gaining in airplanes as a mode of travel. For the record of air safety marches steadily along the path of achievement. Accidents involving death for passengers in properly controlled commercial planes, on regular routes, grow fewer and fewer, measured by miles traveled.

It is the prominence of such men as Hawks which gives news importance to their tragic death. They are the pioneers, the men who led the way along the uncharted pathways of the air.

Now, having contributed their part, they die as they lived.

It is to their lives, and not their deaths, that the world must look. Flying is not only speedier because Hawks lived. It is safer, too.

STORY OF HORROR

The story of the deaths of four convicts in the Philadelphia county prison, as it slowly becomes public property, strikes a note of inhuman horror almost unbelievable in a country and an age supposed to be civilized.

It appears the four men had been ring-leaders in a hunger strike. They were locked in unventilated cells and the steam turned into the radiators. The unbearable heat slowly drove them mad and, ultimately, to death. They were literally "cooked to death."

Such a fate might conceivably be dealt to prisoners by the most barbarous of savages. That it should happen in America, in this year of 1938, provides astounding shock.

There is doubt as to whether the steam was turned on by accident or by intent. At this time of the year it does not seem likely that steam heat could be available, to be used by the simple turning of a faucet, anywhere. It will be hard for the authorities in charge of the prison to convince investigators that such an act, in midsummer, could be other than deliberate.

However intractable, however criminal the four men who died may have been, the fact remains they died most horribly and, apparently, unnecessarily. There must be prompt and thorough investigation and suitable punishment, most severe, for those responsible.

Had such an incident occurred in a Georgia prison the entire country would have resounded with condemnation and references to that fantastic work of fiction, "Fugitive From a Georgia Chain Gang." That it happened in the state of Pennsylvania, however, provides no excuse for recriminations from the south. Retaliatory remarks are not in order and may be profitably omitted.

HOT WEATHER

Atlanta, of recent days, seems to have suffered from heat more than in a number of years. Regardless of the official thermometer readings, the summer sun has apparently been more oppressive, more discomfort-producing than in a long, long time. It may be the humidity. Or it may be the additional heat of political campaigns, making itself felt.

Whatever the cause the people have complained more and desecrated more about the "fearful weather," than they have in a half dozen years.

It may be more oppressive than usual. But, whether this be true or not there is one remedy for personal discomfort more effective than any other yet suggested.

That is, don't think about it. Every time an individual grouches about how hot it is, every time one feels the emotion of self-sympathy, just so much harder does it become to bear.

Go about your work as calmly and effortlessly as possible. Drink a reasonable amount of cooling liquids. Wear white clothes, loose, not restricting. And, above all, think of other things besides the weather.

That is the recipe for comfort under an unusually strong Georgia sun.

There is room in the ranks of sports for a sound historian. No one has gone back through Mathewson's record to learn which oatmeal was responsible.

George Washington, visiting western Pennsylvania in 1753, bought a tract of land which contained an oil spring and listed it in his will.

Editorial of the Day

EXTENDING RURAL REHABILITATION

(From The Columbia State)
Secretary Wallace in a conversation with President Roosevelt some months ago, said the rural rehabilitation program in the south was one of the finest, or most significant programs now being developed. We hope the President accepts the secretary's view, because we believe it correct. And there is some evidence to support belief the President agrees. Advance rumors are to the effect that the rehabilitation program will be greatly expanded in South Carolina and in other southern states.

This program was described some days ago in The State. Essentially it is this: farmers who have nothing but a desire to have something are accepted as clients. Farms are rented for them for stated sums. Their needs are appraised, loans extended, and then they work under supervision of the Farm Security Administration. This is as good an arrangement as could be devised. It rescues the perishing, and teaches them how to take care of themselves.

This facet of New Deal work is based on solid comprehension of the south's rural problem.

Labor Act Is Opposed, 9 to 1, In Cross-Section Vote Of Eminent Leaders

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP,

Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—An overwhelming majority of eminent men and women listed in Who's Who in America believe that the three-year-old National Labor Relations Act should be revised or repealed, according to a special cross-section survey just completed by the Institute.

This expression of opinion from a group of leaders of American thought comes close on the heels of an announcement by William Green of the A. F. of L. that President Roosevelt himself favors making some changes in the much-disputed labor act. Mr. Green made his statement after conferring with the President last week in Hyde Park.

The Institute's survey covered a cross-section of the more than 30,000 persons in Who's Who. Only one American in 4,000 is ever likely to find his name in this catalog of eminence, and the names represent a wide diversity of occupation. One fifth are in trade, industry or business, one-fifth in education, another fifth are lawyers and clergymen, and the remainder are in such professions as medicine, science, art, publishing, engineering, etc.

The question asked by the Institute was: "Do you think the Wagner Labor Act should be revised, repealed or left unchanged?"

Chief among reasons given by the respondents for advocating a change is that the act is not "equitable" in its present form. According to one New Jersey clergyman who favors revision: "The Wagner Act is aimed in the right direction, but it is not rounded out. Employers have rights as well as employees, and have much more at stake as a rule." Another voter, a New York mining engineer, declared: "Labor has been deprived of its liberty almost more than employers. Revisions along the lines of the British Act would be helpful."

Contrast With Public's Views.
Three months ago the Institute asked the general public the same question it put to persons listed in Who's Who. This study showed that among those voters who have an opinion on the Labor Act, the majority likewise favor its revision or repeal. A comparison of the vote of the general public and the vote of persons listed in Who's Who is shown below.

General Who's Who	Public
Revised	65%

Is Act Fair?
In a supplementary question the persons listed in Who's Who were asked: "Do you think the Wagner Labor Act is fair to employers? To employees?"

While sentiment was about evenly divided on whether the act is fair to employers, an overwhelming majority felt it was unfair to employees.

Fair to Employers?	52%
Not Fair to Employers?	48%
Fair to Employees?	20%
Not Fair to Employees?	80%

Strange things we'd see
Could we strip the souls
Of fellow humans bare;
Revealed desires,
Frustrated hopes,
Fantastic dreams are there.

Dust Of Dreams.
"Dust to dust, ashes to ashes—"
The minister speaks the words as all that is left of man's material body is consigned to its final resting place.

The soul of that body, if man's universal belief is true, lives on in some other plane of existence. But what of the earthly dreams, the hopes and aspirations and repressed desires that filled the mind and brain? Are they relegated, too, to ghostly little heaps of imaginary dust?

Deep within the consciousness, or subconsciousness of every one of us there is some hidden dream that is never realized in life. It may be normal or abnormal, worthy or unworthy. We hug it close, never surrendering hope that, some day, it may be fulfilled. I wonder if that mental persistence upon those strange, intangible things that make them come true, after all. Maybe not in this life, but perhaps in some reincarnation. Even, perhaps, a reincarnation in the flesh.

It is, perhaps, good for the world that these dreams perish with the earthly existence of the dreamer. For if we have a suspicion that more of them are unworthy than worthy. Perhaps it should be said, most of them would prove disruptive if realized.

For the very fact that they are secrets, hidden, proves they are not of the normal order of things. Unless they are, somehow, tinged with the embarrassment of shame there would be no reason to keep them secret. And the vast majority of us are only embarrassed at confessing to things our conscience tells are bad.

Sometimes, as I sit and talk with visitors, friends or casual acquaintances, I wonder what hidden longings are hidden deep within their personalities. And I wonder the same about the people who pass upon the street. What is behind their faces? How many of them would, if they suddenly tried to realize those hidden dreams, shock society and be quickly locked in some institution for the insane?

I wish some of you with bizarre, abnormal, fantastic dreams would tell, or write me, about them. Just for satisfaction of my own curiosity.

I doubt if I could ever bring myself to reveal my own deep secret, to anyone, unless a perfect stranger, who didn't know me and whom I'd know I'd never see again.

The Size Of Atlanta.
Atlanta is a big town. Don't ever let anyone tell you different. Or, if you doubt it, try to travel all around and about the city some day. See if you can do it in a single day.

I am speaking, of course, of Greater Atlanta.
Start with a drive out to Decatur and on to Avondale. Come back to the city and set out for East Point, College Park and Hapeville. Then you might like the trip to East Atlanta. Another to the north side and Buckhead. Then out beyond the river car line. And so on and so forth.

Me, I can get lost easily enough in the Morningside sector, to say nothing of Druid Hills. And Ansley Park.

The population statistics don't tell the story. It must be because Atlanta is so widely spread out. Homes have larger gardens and are spaced farther apart. There are wide open spaces, not yet developed. The city, to tell the truth, sprawls over a tremendous area for a place less than half a million in population.

No one should worry about population congestion here. It simply isn't within logic.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Obligated To Narrow Path
NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—There are some walks of life in which a man is almost obliged to practice what he preaches, failing which he discredits his own teaching. Thus the person is expected to refrain from crap shooting, drinking and lally-gagging, and the President of a great republic finds his own conduct measured against his utterances bearing on propriety in such circumstances. To a less extent, but to some extent, he is also held accountable for the conduct of persons under his control or for whom he vouches.

If a President should utter with a withering note the phrase "Well-fed clubmen," that expression would be taken to indicate that he himself, although sufficiently fed, was not a clubman and had scorn for such. But if it should then be shown by reference to "Who's Who in America," edition of 1927-1928, that he then was a member of the Harvard Club, the Knickerbocker Club, the City Club and the highly aristocratic Racquet and Tennis Club, of New York, it would be no more than natural for his subjects to exclaim, "Lies! Lies! Lies! About well-fed clubmen!"

If he should resign all such memberships, or for reasons of political discretion, omit the listing from his biographical sketch for 1934-1935, the sketch for the 1927-1928 volume would be used as the gauge of his consistency and sincerity. Not that there is necessarily anything wrong with the state of being well fed and a clubman. It would be merely that the President had set up a strong suggestion that there was something wrong about it.

"Economic Then, again, if a President should denounce 'economic royalists' and someone very near to him should write an autobiography describing the life of a numerous family in terms of accustomed luxury and inherited wealth, with never a single word from cover to cover about the work of productive enterprise of any provider, that, too, would prompt an honest skeptic to say, 'Well, now, let's see.'"

A skeptic, mind you, not a heretic.

A heretic, of course, is a terrible thing, but probably some of your best friends are skeptics.

And then if the President, having used these terms, should make a speech urging moderation in debate and should follow that up with a denunciation of his political opponents as "copperheads"—wait a minute. Where are we, anyway?

Either he is inconsistent and insincere or he considers the terms "well-fed clubman," "economic royalists," "copperhead" and "copperhead," to be moderate expressions. And if he thinks these to be such, then he cannot object to being called a carpet-bagger himself—a nasty one, if you will, but no worse than "copperhead."

Arriving at Another Kink
But, sensibly, it is idle to pretend that these are not all intertemperate terms. On paper and alone they have no special meaning, but in their political and social context they represent sense, blows, and this brings us to another kink. For we are supposing that the same President, in the "copperhead" speech, says that he who resorts to blows in argument concedes that he has run out of argument.

Let us picture, too, the case of a President who thinks it wrong of a President to go campaigning in state elections but correct for the same man to do this in the role of party leader on the President's travel allowance.

Or conjure a case in which a President who thinks it wrong of a man who rides in carriages and a man who drinks expensive wine on the same day that a rich young man so like his own son as to be mistaken for him squirts wine in the ceremonial plug hat of a French mayor while riding in a carriage.

Or imagine, if you can, a President who says it is "definitely unethical" for a relative of a political leader to be in the surety business, elevating to a position of power a son who accepted a $15,000 job from a group of promoters with no illusions that he was worth that money on ability alone and who explained it this way: "Father had become a national figure. The name was likely to become an asset. See? . . . Me? I was newly married, needed money, thought it was wonderful."

But this must be foolishness. No President would do all this, would he?

Mohammedan Era.
The Mohammedan era began in 622 A. D. with the hejira (flight) from Mecca of Mohammed Hashim, 52, founder of the faith of 210,000,000 today. He fled as Meccans threatened to kill him because he committed sacrilege in announcing the Korish gods. Today Mecca is the Holy City that 210,000,000 Meccans aim to visit once before they die.

How Strange to Strain at a Neck When We Can Swallow Such Camels

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

The scientist is a student of facts, and makes no effort to explain the unknown. He will tell us how the scheme of natural works, but not why. Thus his clearest explanations sometimes leave us more puzzled than we were, for they merely substitute one mystery for another.

It isn't enough to tell a yokel the train goes because the engine pulls it. He still wonders what makes the engine go. In a recent radio broadcast, a medical man told us about the remarkable powers of the pituitary gland. Our glands make up what we are. The substances they secrete control our growth and temperament and personality, our capacity for affection and valor and ambition, and thus at last determine our careers.

But the pituitary gland is the "central" of the system, controlling all the others. It produces various mysterious substances called hormones, which make the other glands work as they should and thus one little gland bears the responsibility for the fate of men and nations.

That, said the medical man, disposes of the idea that some mysterious power controls our destiny. The pituitary gland does it and that proves the whole system naturalistic.

That is convincing, as far as it goes, but it still leaves us with a mystery on our hands. Where and how did the pituitary get its god-like powers? It is like the mystery that attends the birth of a child. Any physician will tell you that the heart of an unborn child has an opening between the two sides, through which the blood stream is sidetracked or short-circuited to keep it way from the unused lungs.

But the moment the child begins its conscious life, that opening is forever closed and the blood stream is routed through the lungs.

What closes it? Why does it close at that particular moment, and from what source comes the physical impulse that makes it close?

Medical textbooks won't tell you why. They only tell how it happens, for they are scientific works, dealing in facts.

There are mysteries attending birth that science cannot explain—any more than it can explain what magnetism is, or why the earth hangs in space.

Men who rever to have discovered and named and described innumerable facts, but still no man is wise enough to tell how one of them came to be, or why.

To say a thing is "naturalistic" is begging the question, for we have yet to learn the cause of nature.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH MCGILL.

At Least Our Convicts Are Fugitives!
For years now, all the critics, since the phone, have been pointing more less dirty forefingers at the state of Georgia and saying, "Isn't the brutality shocking?"

You could go around this country of ours and when prisons were mentioned the Georgia chain gang system came in for an immediate condemnation from people who knew nothing, or less, about it. Not that there were not occasions of brutality.

But have you seen the news from Philadelphia? They cooked four convicts to death in Philadelphia. The news does not say if they cooked them well done or medium rare. But they cooked them just the same. It is such a home story that one might go along the whole way and relate how the only water they could get was in the cell toilets. It required two days to bake the men to death. Not since they burned witches in Salem has there been as much downright barbarism in this country.

It is a bit more ironic it happened in The City of Brotherly Love.

In Georgia, at our very worst, we have gray little men and women who put them in sweat boxes. That was brutality of a severe sort. But to put four men in a cell and turn on the steam and keep it on until they baked to death is a new high in horror and inhumanity.

At least, our convicts were permitted to be fugitives. Had all this occurred in Georgia the nation would have echoed with shouts for vengeance and for federal intervention. There would have been congressmen and senators hectoring their hosts off about it. All the best citizens would have been indignant. There would have been editorials in every newspaper published.

Yet, the cooking with steam of four convicts in The City of Brotherly Love seems to have attracted very little attention. The editorial writers are calm about it. The congressmen are silent. The "best people" are making no demands for heads to drop in the basket.

Can it be that prison brutality is brutal only in Georgia?

Fugitive From It was one Robert Burns who made a Georgia fugitive mouse by his book, "I Am a Fugitive From a Georgia Chain Gang."

He escaped from the Troup county jail. It's cleaner than most. And on the day Robert Burns took it on the lam, to speak in the vernacular, he was serving as water boy. They didn't even have him throwing a pick or shovel.

He wrote, or had ghosted for him, a very exciting book all full of the horrors. The chain gangs were bad enough. They were worse than those in other states. They got the publicity and pub-lity gets around places. There was no defense at all for who brutality went on in the gang. As far as I know no one ever attempted to defend it.

The trouble was with the guard. Many of the counties paid such low wages to guards they could hire only semi-moronic types who were very little better, if as good as the men they guarded. Anyhow, it was brutal. But not as brutal as the water boy, Mr. Burns, would have his public believe.

Ed Rivers and the legislature. Georgia have removed all the shackles from Georgia gang. There are no more shackles in Georgia. The prison system has been modernized as has the educational and social legislative systems. That man has done a great job of advancing Georgia severely in humanity, education and general progress. Before he had done with it you will find Georgia well off the bottom of the list. Which is where she was in home terms. That man has done a great conditions and other features of state's life when he took it over.

Well, what I started out to say was, it was better to have fugitives than to cook prisoners to death.

It Is Curious, It is curious how prejudice runs. The anti-lynching bill is a case in point. No one defends lynching. Lynching is to be cured, and is being cured, by education.

It is the only major crime which is decreasing. All the others are on the increase.

Yet, to argue on the question to find one's self in the predicament of the man who is asked, "Have you stopped beating your wife? Answer yes or no."

The anti-lynching bill was political and was entirely unconstitutional as its framers knew. In fact, I often have wondered why negro leaders didn't protest against it. It was intended to be a vote-getter and nothing else. It would have aroused passions, no allayed them.

While our economics may be in the red, the fact remains that brutality is brutality in any section. No differential can be found which will make it any less painful to be flogged in Georgia than in Massachusetts.

Certainly, it is just as horrible to be burned to death in Philadelphia as any place else. There was a negro burned to death in Georgia not so long ago. It was a shocking, inexcusable crime. He was unconscious during the burning and at its outset.

THIS MORNING

By JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES II.

"Beneath the rule of men entirely great...."

In Flat Rock, N. C., last week I had the pleasure of discussing the world and its ways with Federal Judge Frank Kercher Myers, of Charleston. Judge Myers is a philosopher. The combination of being that and a jurist, too, makes him a most satisfactory gentleman with whom to talk, for it makes him intellectually honest. He is perfectly willing to wonder where the country is going to get the upper judges needed in future to deal with super problems, inasmuch as the professors of law are inclined to be too little practical and the attorneys of law are inclined to be too partisan. And here the super-legislators and government executives, since businessmen forget how much more than a business government and nonbusinessmen forget that a business government is?

Sunday we hope to ask Senator George if he is by any chance related to the lady of whom we have heard all our life but of whose actual existence we were never sure. She is a Miss Georgia George, of Georgetown, Ga., or, rather, she is said to be.

Fate has left nothing out that will make dramatic the Georgia memorial campaign. There is the circumstance of Mr. Camp's striking physical resemblance to his great patron, Mr. Roosevelt. And here is the circumstance of the equally striking resemblance between the name of Senator George and that of the great state whose right to name its legislative representatives without executive interference he represents. George of Georgia! What a sequence in which to talk state's rights! What a combination in restraint of outside interference!

Donald Comer, one of the five big C's of southern cotton manufacture, is enough of a progressive and New Dealer to have introduced Harry Hopkins when the latter spoke at Memphis, on August 5, last. He is recognized everywhere as a forward-looking plan.

social-minded, truly liberal businessman. But he cannot follow the President in Georgia. "I subscribe to your position and your reasons for it," he writes this column. "I think the youth needs Senator George at Washington on the basis of his record."

From Richmond, D. Sam Cox writes to agree against the President's "unwarranted and undemocratic intrusion into state affairs." Birmingham's David S. Anderson writes that "all ex-Georgians I know are indignant at the unfair, unjust and dictatorial criticisms of Senator George." But Mary Craik Speed, of the same city, thinks that "Mr. Roosevelt is trying to fulfill the mandate laid upon him by the people." A business executive who asks that his name be not published writes: "I am glad to see that you resented the President's interference in Georgia. I have never thought much of your economics but darned highly of your sense of fairness." A long-distance caller tells us he has lost faith in us for opposing Roosevelt on this, that we have fallen at last into the hate-Roosevelt way of newspapers, and that the press no longer represents public opinion in the south.

"I fully agree with you in your attitude toward Mr. Roosevelt's interference," writes a well-known southern attorney, "although I am in accord with him generally on national matters. There was an astuteness in the two speeches he made in Georgia that reminded me of the oration made by Mark Antony over the body of Caesar. We must admit that he is not only a great leader but a great politician; a combination necessary for success in a democracy."

Hizzoner and Chicken Will Star When Municipal Employees Meet

Mayor Hartsfield and Specially Vivisected Fryer Will Spread Good Word at International Convention To Be Held Here Next Week.

The mayor of Atlanta, champion of the "dissect that chicken" movement, is going to be honored for his pioneering spirit Tuesday night.

Mayor Hartsfield will be presented with an entire chicken fried in the southern way and vivisected to suit "Hizzoner's" taste, Kenneth Murrell, chairman of the barbecue committee for the international convention here next week of the American Federation of State, National and County Employees, revealed yesterday. "The mayor and city council are going to be honor guests at the barbecue for the public employees at Grant Park, and we are going to take advantage of the opportunity to congratulate the mayor for his efforts in behalf of fried chicken lovers," Murrell said.

More than 700 public employees attending the convention barbecue from over the United States will witness the ceremonies in which the mayor and a fried chicken will star, Murrell, who also is president of Courthouse Employees' Chapter No. 2, of Fulton County Local No. 3, said. "They will return to their homes in all parts of the country and tell people about how southern fried chicken is really fried—in pieces, not in halves," Murrell pointed out.

CHARGES DRAWN IN 'FAKE' HOLDUP

Habeas Corpus Hearing for Drug Store Girl Cashier Is Postponed.

Hearing on a habeas corpus action brought in an effort to free 17-year-old Helen Gentry, pretty drug store cashier whom police termed the "goat" in a hold-up of the store, was postponed until 2 o'clock this afternoon by Superior Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy yesterday.

Assistant Solicitor Quincy Arnold informed Judge Pomeroy that a grand jury indictment placing a technical charge of "larceny from the house" had been drawn against her and three of the men involved in the "fake" hold-up.

At the same time, City Detectives Leo Nahlik and M. M. Copenberger told Judge Pomeroy charges of "disorderly conduct-larceny" had been filed against Helen at police headquarters and a recorder's court hearing set for 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning.

Attorneys for Miss Gentry, who sat alternately smiling and blinking back tears, contended she was being held without bond illegally and that no charges had been placed against her.

Police, meanwhile, had released H. G. Brooks, 20, of a Washington street address, and Edward Rohrman, 32, of a Georgia avenue address, for lack of prosecution in connection with the hold-up.

Held for grand jury action were Haden Driver, John A. Leveritt, William J. Satterfield and Miss Gentry.

3 Die in Cave-In, Short Legs Save Four-Year-Old

HAMBURG, Iowa, Aug. 25.—(UP)—Four-year-old Curtis Briggs came home late for supper tonight and stumbled out a child in a story about "falling dirt" that directed his father to a cave-in which killed his two small brothers and another child.

Curtis escaped death only because his short legs could not carry him fast enough to keep up with the other children in their playing.

The child led 40 men to the old Knapp farm, six miles from Hamburg, and pointed to the pile of dirt 30 feet deep from which the bodies of John Briggs, 9, and Olin Mullen, a neighbor child, were recovered. The body of Larry Briggs, 5, had not been reached.

The children, all sons of farmers, were in bathing suits, apparently searching for a place to swim, when the bank of the ditch caved in.

Approximately 200 negro laborers are enrolled at the Buena Vista camp, and attached to the service are 15 or more officers and other officials connected with the soil conservation service, it was learned.

Reports indicate that officers representing the United States army, CCC authorities and the soil conservation service will come here to select a site for the camp. It also was indicated that the site most likely to be selected lies just west of the Ellaville highway, about one mile from the city of Americus. At this point the federal government maintains a huge nursery where millions of pine and walnut trees are in cultivation.

A pay roll estimated at $8,000 per month will be brought to Americus with the camp.

Britain Pushes Czech Settlement As Nazis Parade Might for Horthy

Curb on German Pressure Requested Lest It Result in War; Hitler Displays Huge 10-Inch Field Guns to Hungarian Regent.

By the United Press.

Great Britain last night launched a drive to solve the Czechoslovak minority crisis with a warning to Hitler that any Nazi invasion of Czech soil probably would plunge Germany into war with Britain.

The new diplomatic offensive brought immediate results in an announcement at Praha that the inner political council of the cabinet has agreed to offer the Sudeten German minority a new basis for negotiation with far greater concessions. The terms will be communicated within 24 hours to Konrad Henlein, Sudeten German leader, and Viscount Runciman, British mediator.

Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax conferred for two hours with Frank T. Ashton-Gwatkin, chief of the economic section of the foreign office, who returned by airplane from Praha where he is aiding British mediation efforts in the minority dispute.

A plan to lodge direct representations in Berlin against Czechoslovak Nazi pressure on Czechoslovakia, abandoned because of fear that such positive action might aggravate Nazi feeling at a time when all available co-operation must be mustered. It was indicated, however, that Hitler would be asked informally to curb anti-Czech press attacks.

The warning to Hitler of Britain's probable role in any conflict growing out of the central European tangle is expected to be made within a few days when the government—perhaps Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain himself—announces a detailed statement of policy.

It was indicated in London the British mediators in Praha have hit upon a new approach to a "reasonable and just settlement" and that this new proposal lay behind the Praha government's Paris from a distance of 76 miles.

Reports indicate that officers representing the United States army, CCC authorities and the soil conservation service will come here to select a site for the camp. It also was indicated that the site most likely to be selected lies just west of the Ellaville highway, about one mile from the city of Americus. PAROLE COMMISSION FAVORS 'BIG SHOTS,' JUDGE WOOD SAYS

Parole Commission
Favors 'Big Shots,' Judge Wood Says

A charge that the state prison parole commission leaves disposition of "poor and unfortunate offenders" in hands of the courts while confining its actions to cases involving so-called "big shot" offenders was voiced yesterday by Fulton Criminal Court Judge Jesse J. Wood.

"It is the poor and unfortunate persons driven into crime from want and lack of the necessities of life that the courts tend to be lenient with," Judge Wood said. "And on the other hand, the hardened criminals with whom we have no patience and to whom we give straight prison sentences are the ones who react the prison commission for a parole."

Referring to the parole of E. J. Ealey, negro lottery and bootlegging offender, Judge Wood asserted the parole should be revoked.

"If it is true, as the commission stated in its reply to my letter condemning their action paroling Ealey, that they had no knowledge of all the offenses against him which I cited in my letter, Ealey's parole was granted through misrepresentation and should be revoked," he said.

He asserted that in applying for parole the applicant is required to swear to a true and accurate account of his previous offenses in his application.

"Judges are not required to furnish the commission with a record of a prisoner's offenses, as the commission would seem to imply by its letter," Judge Wood said.

"Bug" Activities Increase. He revealed he had written a previous letter to the prison commission in which he stated "lottery activities are increasing rapidly and assuming larger proportions than ever before in Fulton county."

Judge Wood said that at the time he wrote the letter (August 6) he was informed the commission was considering paroles for several "notorious lottery operators." The letter, written in opposition to the parole application for a lot-

Greely, Battered By Sea, Storm En Route Home

By CLIFFORD J. MACGREGOR.
Commander, MacGregor Arctic Expedition
SCHOONER GENERAL A. W. GREELY, Aug. 25.—(By Wireless) The schooner General A. W. Greely, with the MacGregor Arctic expedition aboard, is now off north-east Newfoundland. The ship is leaking badly.

Ice and storms with heavy seas have continued to pound at the ship. It is necessary to pump constantly in order to keep the water down. If the ship takes any more water, it will be necessary to put into some port before we reach St. Johns.

Tonight makes seven weeks at sea since we left our Polar base camp at Reindeer Point, Greenland. For three weeks, we were drifting with the Polar ice in Baffin Bay. Our water and meat supplies are running low.

Engine parts for replacements have been shipped from the States to St. Johns.

Parole Commission. I am advised by police and the prosecuting attorney in this county that lottery activities are increasing rapidly and assuming larger proportions than ever before.

"I believe that the citizens of Fulton county are entitled to know that it is freely predicted in court circles that other notorious lottery operators who have been convicted are shortly to be paroled, or pardons recommended by your commission. I sincerely trust that this is not so. All of these defendants were convicted by justice, the cases have been carried to the court of last resort and then affirmed."

In the interest of law, order and justice, it seems to me that these offenders should be required to serve their sentences.

Walter Cutcliffe, one of the 21 ex-"big shot" lottery operators given a five-year suspended sentence last fall, has a parole application pending with the commission.

Opposition already has been voiced by Superior Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy and Prosecutor E. E. Andrews.

FIRE SAFETY BILLS DRAWN FOR COUNCIL

Measure Scheduled to Reach
City Body on September 6.

Proposed ordinances designed to make Atlanta buildings safer will be sent to council September 6 by the special fire safety committee which yesterday morning held public hearings on the proposed measures.

Building owners and property managers indicated agreement with the proposed laws, which would leave elimination of fire hazards largely to the chief of the fire department.

The proposals call upon the fire chief to have every occupied building, other than one and two-family dwellings, inspected. The inspectors would order installation of protective equipment where they considered it needed for the safety of property and life.

Among the principal provisions of the proposed ordinances are requirements that alarm and sprinkler systems must be installed in non-fire-resistant buildings of two or more stories in height where 10 or more persons are above the second floor or as many as 25 on the second floor.

Basements of more than 2,000 square feet, where combustible goods are stored, must have automatic sprinkler systems, the proposed measures provide.

Elevator and dumb-waiter shafts and vertical openings in multi-storied buildings must be enclosed with fire-resistant materials, also.

C. J. Bowen, city building inspector; Fire Chief O. J. Parker, City Attorney Jack C. Savage and Raymond W. Torres, engineer-secretary of the planning commission, are members of the special committee.

GUERRILLAS STING
JAPANESE ARMIES

Persistent Attacks Harass Invaders Within 100 Miles of Shanghai.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Reports from a dozen sectors of regular and guerrilla conflict in the valleys of the Yangtze and Yellow rivers reached Shanghai today.

Taken together, the reports showed little beyond the persistent, scattered nature of the undeclared war between China and Japan and indicated no immediate, decisive stroke for either side.

Hankow was still the pivot on which the war revolved, with reinforced Japanese armies slowly jockeying for position to strike westward above and below the Yangtze to sever two railways which meet at the provisional capital—the Peiping-Hankow on the north and the Canton-Hankow on the south.

But the reports of guerrilla fighting in nominally Japanese-held territory illustrated the rear-guard difficulties of the Japanese, the scope of their task of "pacifying" China. Much of this fighting was within 100 miles of Shanghai.

In the warfare of regular armies east of Hankow, the Chinese admitted a Japanese column 10,000 strong had advanced 10 miles westward in Anhwei province, north of the Yangtze, and had occupied a village 24 miles from Luan, gateway through the southwestern Anhwei hills.

JAPANESE ACCUSED OF USING POISON GAS
GENEVA, Aug. 25.—(AP)—China accused Japan for the second time today of using poison gas in their undeclared war.

The accusation, similar to one made October 14, 1937, was sent to all members of the League and to the Far-Eastern Committee, including the United States.

STACEY DIMMOCK TAKES OWN LIFE

Manager of Decatur Grocery Is Found Dead of Rifle Wound.

Stacey C. Dimmock Sr., 49, manager of a chain grocery store in Decatur, was found dead of a rifle wound in his right temple yesterday morning in a bedroom of his home at 433 South Candler street, police reported.

A DeKalb county coroner's jury yesterday afternoon decided that Mr. Dimmock came to his death "by his own hand." A .22-caliber rifle was found in his hands when he was found by members of the family, who said he had been in ill health for some time.

Members of the family said that Mr. Dimmock returned home Wednesday night from Carrollton, three weeks before he had planned. DeKalb County Police Officer Joe White and J. C. Holbrook said they were told he had mentioned suicide previously.

Surviving are one son, Stacey C. Dimmock Jr.; three sisters, Mrs. D. N. C. Morgan, Mrs. H. B. Cobb and Mrs. E. A. Sharp, all of Decatur, and two brothers, Thomas Dimmock, of Carrollton, and Walter Dimmock, of Atlanta.

LABOR ACT CHANGE IS URGED BY DAVIS

U. S. C. of C. Head as Ban on Sympathetic Strikes.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(UP)—President George Davis, of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, today urged congress to amend the Wagner Labor Relations act to make the closed shop illegal, to ban sympathetic strikes and to forbid walkouts in violation of contracts.

Davis, a persistent critic of the Wagner act, complained that employees are being coerced by labor unions and urged that congress correct the situation.

The National Labor Relations Board has not been fair and impartial, and has failed to achieve justice in industrial disputes, he emphasized that his views are representative of the Chamber of Commerce as a whole.

CHICAGO REPORTS
10TH GANG KILLING

'Purge' of Underworld Is Blamed on Mobs.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Ten gang style killings here in as many weeks were attributed today by John L. Sullivan, veteran chief of detectives, to a mysterious and bloody "purge" of the Chicago underworld by a mob or mobs unknown.

Paul Battaglia, 44, latest victim of the swiftly striking executioners, was found dead in a West Side alley last night. Police identified him as an associate of the notorious Genna gang in its prohibition heyday and later of the "42 gang" of automobile strippers, burglars and holdup artists.

None of the 10 recent killings, with traditional gangland technique, has been solved.

Jazz Tunes of 1920's Collected To Satisfy New Demands in North

Despite Popularity of 'Flat Foot Floogie' and Other Hot Rhythms, Number in U. S. Still Like 'Dinah,' St.
Louis Blues and Similar Numbers.

By LUKE GREENE.

The hot rhythm of "Flat-Foot Floogie" may be top-ranking jazz for thousands of people, but a small number throughout the nation close their ears to anything but the swing tunes that were popular in the 1920's.

Two enterprising college graduates realized this fact, and now they are on a swing through the south collecting unused phonograph records of such old favorites as "Dinah" and the "St. Louis Blues." And they're making money, too.

The two boys, Jeffrey Fuller, 21, a graduate of Harvard, and David Lane, 20, a graduate of the University of California, were in Atlanta yesterday. They explained they had obtained about 200 of the oldtime records since they had been in the city.

"On the north there is a great demand for these records," Fuller said.

T. B. BOGGUS DIES;
RETIRED ENGINEER

Was Youth When Battle of Atlanta Was Fought; Rites Tomorrow.

Thomas B. Boggus, 84, retired railway engineer, died yesterday morning at his home, 713 Pryor street, S. W., after a lengthy illness.

Born in Decatur, Mr. Boggus was a youth when the Battle of Atlanta was fought. He often recalled many stirring incidents in connection with the capture of the city.

He worked for the Southern railway system for almost 50 years, as an engineer for more than 30 years before being employed in the shop. He was a former member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

One of the first students at Boys' High school, he belonged to the Pioneer School boys, was a member of the Red Men, the Knights Templar, the Junior Order of United American Mechanics and was a Mason and a Shriner.

Active in church work, he was a member of St. John's Methodist church for 52 years, and was a steward there.

Surviving are the wife, Mattie Boggus; one brother, Ernest B. Boggus, and five grandchildren, Mrs. Edward Winslow, Mrs. Emmett Hale and Jack, Joe and Thomas Candler, all of Atlanta.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning in St. John's Methodist church, conducted by the Rev. W. H. Clark. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery, under direction of J. Austin Dillon.

COLONEL PARKER DIES;

BASINS TO INCREASE CITY'S PURE WATER

Sedimentation Projects Near Completion, Cost Approximately $199,000.

Two new sedimentation basins which will increase the capacity of the city waterworks by 32,000,000 gallons a day were virtually completed yesterday, W. Zode Smith, head of the water department, said.

The two basins, constructed out of the 10 per cent water revenue reserve, cost approximately $199,000.

The basins were put in operation last night for the first time, and within a few days will be used in the regular system, Smith said.

Each basin is 100 feet wide, 400 feet long and 15 feet deep. They are a part of the process of filtering the water which Atlanta uses from the Chattahoochee river.

"These new basins increase the capacity of the system so that more pure water can be pumped to the city," said Smith. The basins are at the Hemphill station.

The water department is now applying for a PWA grant to match its 1939 water reserve fund to rebuild and repair all the electrical equipment at the River and Hemphill stations, as well as supply new boilers.

Lost Lake in Yellowstone Park has not been seen since 1921, but a bigger body of water was recently discovered by rangers.

Norma Shearer, Charlie McCarthy Star in Films Opening Here Today

'Marie Antoinette' at Grand; 'Letter of Introduction' at Fox; 'Four Men and a Prayer,' at Paramount; Valentino Picture at Rialto.

By TOM MRAE.

Acting Motion Picture Editor.

Norma Shearer, in her first screen role since "Romeo and Juliet" two years ago, finds she must share the spotlight—in Atlanta, anyway—with the immaculate and impudent Charlie McCarthy and his side-kick, Edgar Bergen.

In one of the most lavish productions in quite a while, Miss Shearer plays the title role in "Marie Antoinette," opening at the Grand today. She gives one of her finest performances in portraying the little Austrian princess who became queen of France.

The team of McCarthy and Bergen, along with Andrea Leeds, Adolphe Menjou, George Murphy, top the cast in "Letter of Introduction," which plays at the Fox.

The new show at the Paramount is "Four Men and a Prayer," a story whose theme is the love four sons have for their father, who, though innocent, must bear shame and disgrace. The great lover of another decade, Rudolph Valentino, is featured at the Rialto in the new production, "The Son of the Sheik."

A vaudeville troupe from Chicago, presenting the "Top Hat Revue," will be on the stage at the Capitol beginning Sunday and the screen attraction will be "The Saint of New York."

Saturday night's preview at the Fox will be "Spawn of the North," a drama of Alaska, with a cast headed by George Raft, Henry Fonda and Dorothy Lamour. It starts at 11:30 o'clock. "Rich Man, Poor Girl" moves from the Grand to the Rhodes for a week's run.

"MARIE ANTOINETTE" OPENING AT GRAND

Splendor and spectacle, on a scale seldom surpassed, surrounds Norma Shearer and the cast assisting her in "Marie Antoinette," which starts at Loew's Grand, inaugurating the new season of motion pictures, and restoring Miss Shearer, a stunningly beautiful and highly talented actress, to the screen after an absence of two years.

All of the brilliance, intrigue, romance and effectiveness of the French court affords background in this picture dealing with one of the world's most fascinating and most unfortunate women.

Miss Shearer plays Marie Antoinette and is assisted by Tyrone Power, John Barrymore, Robert Morley, Anita Louise, Joseph Schildkraut, Gladys George, Henry Stephenson, Cora Witherspoon, Reginald Gardiner, Henry Daniell, Joseph Calleia, Alma Kruger, and George Meeker. W. S. Van Dyke directed this production.

Following Stefan Zweig's biography of the queen, the story opens when the young Viennese princess, a Hapsburg, learns from her mother, Maria Theresa, that she is to become a queen—is to marry the Bourbon dauphin, Louis XVI. Against the bewildering spectacle of her arrival in Paris is placed the girl's bewilderment upon discovering that her royal fiance is very slow-witted. There is a period of gaiety, and finally her romance with a young Swedish nobleman (Tyrone Power), before she assumes her place as Louis' queen.

Then the fury of the revolution, the tragic effort of the king and queen to escape, their capture and execution—all this vividly portrayed.

CHARLEY MCCARTHY COMES TO THE FOX

Noted for his great and moving tragedies of the screen, John M. Stahl has turned his talent to comedy.

More comedy than he has inserted in his past half-dozen productions is included in his latest, "Letter of Introduction," which starts at the Fox. This picture contains the stirring heart-pull, dramatic punch and romance of his former hits. It is the promise of a new screen personality which accounts for the many laughs in this production.

Heading the cast are Adolphe Menjou, Andrea Leeds, Edgar Bergen with the inimitable Charlie McCarthy, and George Murphy. The story embraces incidents in Bergen's rise to fame with McCarthy and offers excellent comedy opportunities.

Because of the unique style of comedy employed by Bergen and Charlie, most of the incidents dealing with the pair, and practically all of the dialogue between the two, was written by Bergen, recognized as a master comedy constructionist and writer.

The story presents Bergen as a struggling ventriloquist, who, through meeting Menjou, is started on his road to success and fame. The Bergen-McCarthy combination will include his appearances in swanky New York night clubs, his gradual rise to fame and his ultimate success in radio.

Stahl is known for his direction of such pictures as "Back Street," "Magnificent Obsession," "Life with a Little," all with fairly heavy dramatic, even tragic, themes. "Letter of Introduction" marks his departure into a new field.

RIALTO BRINGS BACK "SON OF THE SHEIK"

Screen fans of more than a decade recall the last great picture made by Rudolph Valentino, "The Son of the Sheik," and the Rialto, beginning today, brings this production back for old fans to see again and for younger ones to view for the first time.

Something so unusual and rare comes to the Rialto theater today that it is pretty safe to predict it will be the main topic of conversation among local screen fans before the end.

This reissue film is a sequel to the sensational "Sheik," produced five years earlier.

"The Son of the Sheik" is modern in technique, unlike the "Sheik," which was so stilted today's most serious love scenes bring laughter.

Perhaps the modernity of "The Son of the Sheik" may be chiefly attributed to two important figures in its making, George Fitzmaurice, the director, and Frances Marion, the scenarist. Both still rank in the top flight among directors and screen writers.

The supporting cast, too, contains names that still rank as tops among screen patrons, such as Vilma Banky, George Fawcett, Montagu Love, Karl Dane, Bull Montana and Agnes Ayres. Valentino and Dane are the only ones who have died since the picture was made.

Valentino plays a duel role, that of the romantic, fiery young son of the sheik and the stern sheik himself. Vilma Banky is the girl who causes all the trouble and the reason for battles and rivalry between the warriors of the desert.

The reissued film does not attempt to put speech into the mouths of the players, but a musical score, which carries out the spirit of the story, has been added.

There are several unusual short subjects as new attractions.

"SAINT IN NEW YORK" COMING TO CAPITOL

"The Saint in New York," one of the season's best screen attractions, arrives for a week's engagement at the Capitol, starting Sunday. The picture features a cast of players headed by Louis Hayward, recently seen in "The Rage of Paris," and a new screen personality who seems destined to become as famous as "Mr. Moto" and "Charlie Chan."

Reviewers from coast to coast have praised this new type screen offering and it has also been highly recommended in numerous magazines, including Liberty, which awarded the attraction three stars, meaning "excellent entertainment."

On the stage starting Sunday, the Capitol will offer "Top Hat Revue," a new unit that comes direct from Chicago and which will feature many of the top stars in vaudeville.

"Border G-Man," out-door romantic and action drama starring George O'Brien now offered at the theater, continues through Saturday along with "Melody Modes" on the stage.

Tonight at 9 o'clock the Capitol will present another in its series of Search-for-Talent amateur contests and seven amateur acts of vaudeville will be presented in addition to the regular stage and screen program. Two cash prizes will be awarded.

Century-Fox has passed up all the ultra-saccharine cliches of the love motif for the nobility of the man—instincts—the unwavering faith of four sons in their father's honor.

Beautiful, gay Loretta Young in almost the only feminine role, is the girl whose love for one of the brothers serves as a beacon through clouds of intrigue. And her romantic interest is for Richard Greene, which means that Paramount patrons will have their first glimpse of the new British discovery.

Greene, along with George Sanders, David Niven and William Henry, are the four men who forsake their careers to track down the menace which cast their father, C. Aubrey Smith, out of the army dishonorably, and then brought death to the great soldier.

With a cast of 3,000, including characters of 21 nationalities, this picture has all the sweep and grandeur of the book by David Garth. In the capable hands of John Ford it has been placed upon the screen.

J. Edward Bromberg, John Carradine, Alan Hale, Reginald Denry, Bertin Churchill and Barry Fitzgerald are also featured in the screen play by Richard Sherman, Sonya Levien and Walter Ferris. Darryl F. Zanuck selected Kenneth MacGowan as associate producer.

"SPAWN OF THE NORTH" ON FOX PREVIEW LIST

George Raft, Henry Fonda and Dorothy Lamour form Hollywood's newest trio as the cast leaders in "Spawn of the North," Paramount's sensational drama of Alaska, which will have its first local showing at 11:30 o'clock Saturday night at the Fox.

Raft, who won coast-to-coast applause for his performance in "Souls at Sea," has a similar role in the new picture. He plays a robust and devil-may-care arctic fisherman, whose disregard for law and danger is in sharp contrast to his devotion to the highest ideals of loyalty and friendship. Fonda, who plays as Raft's friend and then as his enemy, comes to the screen from his triumphs in "Jezebel" and "Blockade."

Miss Lamour, cast as a frontier Alaska woman who loves Raft and Fonda equally, has a role distinctive on two scores. It not only marks the biggest dramatic role in her spectacular motion picture career, but in addition she appears minus the famous "Lamour sa-long" which she made famous in "The Jungle Princess," "Hurricane" and "Her Jungle Love."

Prominent in supporting roles are John Barrymore, Akim Tamiroff, Lynne Overman and Hollywood's newest star discovery, pretty Louise Platt.

"RICH MAN, POOR GIRL" ON RHODES SCREEN

In a world full of women who couldn't say "yes" fast enough if given an opportunity to marry a millionaire, the story of one who said "no" proves hilariously entertaining in the new comedy, "Rich Man, Poor Girl," which opens at the Rhodes today.

Self-Pity Melts Down Self-Respect as Hot Water Melts Ice

What Age Is Middle Age? Neglected Wife Feels She's Abused

By Sheila Graham.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 25.—Eddie Goulding—on the "Dawn Patrol" set—"You're a Terrible Woman." "What have I done now?" I ask him. "What haven't you done?" he moans—adding, "Listen, you can call a man a thief, a drunkard, a cheat, and he won't mind. But call him 'middle-aged'—and he'll want to kill you." (Which is how I described the director on a previous "On the Sets" column.) "How old are you?" I ask. "Forty-seven—that's not middle-aged, is it?" queries Eddie. I used to think it was, but the nearer I get to 47, the less middle-aged it seems to be.

Barbara Stanwyck powders her nose, straightens the shoulder strap beneath her white evening gown, sighs wearily, kneels down and buries the safe on "The Mad Miss Manton" office set. She is still very shaky from her recent illness and almost collapses when the "job" is performed to the director's satisfaction. But Barbara is what is known in the trade as a good trouper. Her doctor has another word for it.

In between takes—Coworker Henry Fonda tells me of a unique play-searching system to which he contributes with play-minded ex-wife, Margaret Sullivan, Fredric March, Josh Logan. "We all pay $300 a year maintaining an office in New York to search for suitable plays for us. Thousands of scripts have been submitted, but only three were passable. It'll be a cheap investment—if we ever find that right play."

Strange are the ways of Movie-land. On the set of "Thanks for the Memory," I am told there is talk of changing the title. The sole reason for the creation of this picture was to capitalize on the title of the best-seller song—"Thanks for the Memory." So now they're going to change it! After this news, it is a relief to talk with Star Bob Hope, who tells me, "I have so many guests at my house it looks like a lobby with windows."

On the "Three Loves Has Nancy" set. . . Robert Montgomery insists on sticking up his elbow while dancing with Janet Gaynor, which would be all right if it didn't hide Janet from the camera. Finally, Director Richard Thorpe admonishes, "Bob, will you keep the elbow down?" "Can't," says Bob. "Got the habit when I was a kid and fellows used to try to cut in. I used my elbow as a kind of buffer."

Arleen Whelan is not allowed to watch Fiance Richard Greene perform his acting stunt in "Splinter Fleet," so she missed this lively exchange between Greene and Preston Foster. Mr. Greene: "You certainly look very young—almost as young as I do." Mr. Foster: "Maybe—but not so dumb."

Frances Farmer on the "Escape From Yesterday" set—"I don't mind in the least being Mrs. Leif Erikson in private life—but professionally we are Leif Erikson and Frances Farmer."

Fay Bainter uses New York license plates on her car—which proves embarrassing when she goes on location for "The Arkansas Traveler." The guard at the gate refuses to let her in. "Go away," he says, "You're a tourist—I can tell by your New York license plates." Fay finds a phone—several miles away—or she would still be trying to crash that gate.

Gregory Ratoff is the most affectionate director in the business. To Alice Faye, in "By the Dawn's Early Light," he says, "Sweetheart, my dear, lovely honey-baby, don't worry your pretty little head about lines—just look beautiful." And, at the end of the scene, kisses her affectionately on the forehead. "Kiss me, too, Ratoff," kids leading man Warner Baxter. He is very surprised when Gregory does.

There's Nothing Mysterious About Ordinary Squeeze

By Harold Sharpsteen.

While many squeeze possibilities are recognized in the beginning of a hand, the vast majority are perceived during the course of play. The principle task of the average player in trying for squeezes, is to learn to think under fire and realize there is nothing strange or mysterious about the workings of the ordinary simple squeeze.

Against South's contract of five clubs, West's opening lead was the heart king, won by dummy's ace. COUNTS THREE LOSERS. South counts one losing trump, one club ace, one losing heart and a losing diamond. If spades break 3-3, declarer can discard one plain-suit loser and make his contract by ordinary methods of play.

Declarer leads a small trump from dummy which East wins and promptly returns West a heart. Now declarer must win the remaining 11 tricks. West leads back a small diamond, which is won by dummy's ace.

Barbara Bell Style Has Kimono Sleeves

PATTERN NO. 1462-B.

Those cut-in-one sleeves are ideal for a house dress because they're so free-and-easy to work in. Action pleats in the front of the skirt and the slight blouse at the waist are other details that will make this design one of the most comfortable home dresses you ever own. At the same time it's much too trim and tailored to spend all its life working 'round the house. The notched collar and patch pockets make it appropriate for shopping and home afternoons, too. Inside darts at the back of the skirt give it a particularly nice fit at the hips.

This dress is an ideal design for dark polka dot silk, as well as linen or gingham. And for the wool-frock season you'll certainly want it in flannel or challis, too. It's almost as easy to make as it is to work in. Your detailed sew chart explains everything.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1462-B is designed for sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 4 1/4 yards of 39-inch material. Send 15 cents for the Barbara Bell Fall and Winter Fashion Pattern Book. Make yourself attractive, practical and becoming clothes, selecting designs from the Barbara Bell well-planned, easy-to-make patterns. MY DAY The President Furnishes 'Retreat' With Heirlooms

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

HYDE PARK.—The President, Sir Thomas Hohler and I drove up to my old home in Tivoli yesterday afternoon. My aunt, Mrs. Gray, tried to persuade the President to take some of the furniture from there for his new "Retreat" and he dutifully took a number of pieces. Then she urged upon him the acceptance of one of the first safes ever made in this country. It is beautifully painted and decorated, much more pleasing to the eye than the modern "safer" variety, but he looked it over critically and decided that anyone could open it with a hairpin and that it took up too much room, so it was rejected.

It amused me to see how our taste has changed, for in looking at some of the old book-cases which have some rather ornate carving applied on very nice wood, he calmly remarked: "If you don't think it vandalism, I am going to have all that trimming taken off. The carving in the moulding which is actually part of our modern standards and we will enjoy these pieces much more the plainer they are, but my grandfather who built the house and furnished it would probably not understand us."

Most of the old paintings were bought by my great-grandfather, Mr. Edward H. Ludlow. Only one of them seems to be signed, so all we can do is to decide whether we like them, regardless of any possible value. One old gentleman, a three-quarter portrait, with a delightful white wig, looks as though he might be an ancestor. However, Mrs. Gray says she was told that the painting was bought just because the family thought he had some faint resemblance to Chancellor Livingston.

After dinner last night, we were sitting out on the porch talking, when one of the men came out and told us the sad news of Frank Hawks' death. The President couldn't believe it at first, because he had seen him on Sunday at Lowell Thomas' baseball game. When I went in to say good morning it was still uppermost in his mind and he said: "What a shame for such an accident to happen to Frank Hawks."

Late last night by nephew, Danny Roosevelt, arrived to spend a few days and write up some of his experiences in Spain. At breakfast this morning, Sir Thomas Hohler, who was leaving to catch his boat for England this afternoon, came in and I introduced my young nephew. He looked at him and said: "This is a most remarkable household, young Roosevelt seems to keep dropping in and out. They are all tall and I think it very pleasant, but a little confusing."

I must say that I agree with him about the dropping in and out, for Franklin Jr. lunched with us yesterday on his way to Maine, and Betsy, Jimmy's wife, arrived yesterday afternoon. They do seem to drop in and out of our lives.

Enforced Holidays Afford Opportunity Perk Self Up

By Ida Jean Kain.

The proof lies in the fact that when you were ill and helpless he rose to the occasion and behaved as a loving husband should. If you would encourage that act, drop your martyr mood, calm your quivering nerves, hold down that quick temper and tie the sharp tongue. In no time your husband will respond to the change in you. He might conceivably get on better terms with your family, if you don't force them down his throat.

You aren't the first couple that's been disappointed in having no children. It's no excuse for folding your hands and pronouncing life a failure. What's wrong with your adopting a child? A little girl or boy will cure what ails you, take your mind off your health, blow through your home like a fresh breeze and give you a new meaning to work and live and plan for.

Here's a truth that few disappointed women can grasp: When a wife begins to pity herself a husband begins to despise her (see dictionary definition of despise) and it's perfectly logical that he should. Self-pity melts down self-respect as hot water melts ice and when a wife gives expression to it by word, look or gesture she's inviting a kick which she invariably gets. That martyr manner is also a veiled accusation of the husband for his mistreatment or neglect and an accusation that he sends. He never fails to answer it with the best weapon he has: Mental cruelty.

A Pretty Room At Low Cost

By Elizabeth Boykin.

"I'm in the same boat as the rest of the world," writes Maude C. "I haven't much money to spend. One thing, though, that makes my lot easier and gayer. I know just where I am. My husband's the kind who keeps track of our checkbooks and tells me just how much. Which is a great comfort I can tell you. My sister's husband just drifts along, making plenty but not having the foggiest idea of how to spend it. So she's harder up than I am, even if we don't make much."

Stockings Into Rug. "The immediate thing on my mind is our bedroom. I've always yearned to do something fresh and pretty with it, but we've never gotten to the place where we can afford new furniture. So I've decided to go ahead and do what I can with our old rug, which I can paint. Thought we'd do over the floors and woodwork. Walls are cream. I'll make new curtains and I have been saving stockings for years to use for making a rug. Now I'm ready to start but I feel the need of a definite plan. What would you suggest?"

The Answer. We'd begin by painting furniture and floor in cream color to match the walls. Don't be afraid of the light tone for the floors if you really want the room to have style. Make curtains of cream colored voile to hang in soft drooped folds—you'll need extra fullness to get the right effect. Why don't you make a hand crocheted bedspread for the top of the bed, for the sides, get plain turquoise blue percale and make a flounce to be attached to the side rails and hang to the floor. . . the crocheted spread should come down over the top of flounce. Use the turquoise percale for chair pads and make two or three small round extra cushions of it for the bed. If you have a draped dressing table, have its skirt of turquoise too. Make the rug out of the natural beiges of the silk stockings with a flower design of turquoise (dye the lightest of the stockings this color). Make ruffle lamp shades of the turquoise blue and paint the picture frames turquoise. If you think the room needs a bit of pattern, you could add a narrow flowered use it to slim down your hips, nip in the waist and generally beautify your figure. It's the old-fashioned, no longer cares about her figure who looks old. Incidentally, the exercises that make for lovely measurements will also improve your posture.

While you are budgeting closely, never try to skip on the protective foods. You can do no better than to buy a pint of milk a day—and drink it! Also, you need whole wheat bread, whole grain cereals, fruit, vegetables and eggs. You can lose weight or gain it on these foods. They are the protective foods and are essential to vitality and good looks.

A really thorough-going conditioning program takes time and that's one thing the girl who is job-hunting has. Any girl who uses her leisure time to improve herself in every way that she can will never be out of work for long.

Tonsillectomy—British View

By Dr. William Brady.

Maybe more Englishmen should have their tonsils removed. That is a notion that will occur to many Americans. It is neither logical nor pathological, in my opinion. If there are more enlarged and infected tonsils among the English than among us in the United States and Canada, I believe it is not due to geography, climate or anything backwardness of the English people as a whole in regard to the conservation of the teeth. For it is now pretty well recognized by physicians and pathologists throughout the world that the immediate cause of infected and enlarged tonsils in most instances is dental caries, neglected or untreated cavities in the teeth, particularly the back teeth. Normally when the mouth is closed the third molars ("wisdom" teeth) are nearly if not quite in contact with the tonsils, and so bacteria from cavities in the molars inevitably find their way into the openings or crypts of the tonsils. So I conclude that more and better dentistry in England would improve British tonsils no end.

The United States enjoys the finest dentistry in the world—that is the intelligent portion of the population benefits by the skill of good dentists. There are millions of people in this country who are either unable to buy good dental treatment when they need it or not well enough informed about hygiene and health to comprehend how much they need it.

Dr. J. Allison Glover, medical officer of the ministry of health, recently estimated that 200,000 tonsillectomies were done annually in England (the word was "performed," but after all, such a crude operation is more accurately described as done, if not perpetrated). He said the operation is done as frequently among the better nurtured classes, perhaps even more frequently than among the poorer classes. He said Mr. T. B. Layton, surgeon in the throat department of Guy's hospital in London, had pointed out that the mortality (death rate) of tonsillectomy was higher than was generally appreciated.

Let us linger for a moment on the death rate from the old Spanish method of snatching tonsils which is still highly favored among the brass surgeons of America. These rough and ready operators prefer the prospective victim to imagine that there is no particular danger involved in undergoing the standard guillotine and snare tonsillectomy. Nevertheless surgical tonsillectomy is a major operation, whether general anesthesia or local anesthesia is used.

"It is a little difficult," observes the medical officer of the ministry of health "to believe that among the mass of tonsillectomies performed today all subjects for operation, are selected with true discrimination, and one cannot avoid the conclusion that there is a tendency for the operation to be performed ("sic") as a routine prophylactic ritual for no particular reason and with no particular result."

Attractive Item Combines Compact Hair Brush, Comb

By Lillian Mae.

It was several months ago while I was in New York that I ran across a demonstration of this handy gadget in one of the largest department stores of that city. Upon inquiry I learned that it would not be possible to obtain one at any other place in the country, so entirely new it was. But I was intrigued with it and came away with one in my own favorite shade of blue.

Now it's in Atlanta, so I am hastening to tell you all about it, so that you may have one for your own use while it is so new to Atlanta—and possibly, Georgia.

Have you ever wished it were possible to carry a brush, along with your pocket comb? How handy it would be to keep your hair in place! Well, you can do that now.

This new item very compactly combines comb and brush, both articles being no larger than the average pocket comb. The comb slides into a groove on the side of the brush, and both fit into a neat case of matching color. By the way, the colors in which it may be obtained are amber, tortoise shell, green, red, white, blue and crystal.

Atlanta Belle To Celebrate Twenty-First Birthday in New York

Ida Akers Arrives From Europe
On S. S. Columbus, September 4

By Sally Forth.

IDA AKERS spent the summer traveling in Europe, and will reach her native shores just in time to celebrate her 21st birthday on September 5. Ida's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Akers, will be on the pier to greet their only daughter when she descends the gangplank from the steamer Columbus that docks in New York harbor on September 4. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoyt will also journey to the metropolis to meet their daughter, Julia, who accompanied Ida to Europe and who will also be a passenger on the Columbus.

The Akerses will go to New York several days in advance of their daughter's arrival to make plans for her birthday party. The guests will include, in addition to Julia, several members of the group of youthful travelers with whom the Atlanta belles have toured Europe this summer.

The hosts have planned a dinner at one of New York's fashionable hotels, with the guests enjoying dancing later at a smart night club. Among the many gifts to be presented the honor guest will be an exquisite diamond ring that belonged to Ida's paternal grandmother, the late Mrs. F. P. H. Akers. The sparkling solitaire has been reset in platinum and surrounded by small diamonds in a semi-circle design and will be presented to Ida by her father, who has treasured the piece of jewelry for many years.

Atlanta friends eagerly await Ida's arrival here in order to extend birthday congratulations, as well as to hear the details regarding her many interesting experiences while traveling abroad.

One of the most exciting, according to letters, was the very informal introduction Ida and Julia had with Gladys Swarthout, the American opera star. As the Atlantans and their traveling companions stepped into a gondola at Venice for a ride across to the Lido, they encountered Mrs. Swarthout, who was taking a gondola to the same place. They engaged in conversation with the renowned songbird, who, later in the evening, at one of the Lido's swanky hotels, requested the young southerners to teach her to dance the "Big Apple."

DISTANCE is a mere challenge to three attractive members of the younger set who think nothing of dashing 90 miles to Macon to attend a party and then returning to a party here. But that's exactly what Eloise Ainsworth and her two guests, Elizabeth Ward and Helen Correll, of Spartanburg, S. C., are doing.

Yesterday the girls, with Eloise's mother, Mrs. Malcolm Ainsworth, motored to Macon, where the girls were honored at the luncheon given by Mrs. Washington Dissau at her home on the Forsyth road. Last evening Eloise's grandparents, Bishop and Mrs. W. N. Ainsworth, held open house for their granddaughter and her guests.

Today, however, their date books call for a luncheon which Peggy Dutton is giving at her home here on Seventeenth street. So they are going to pile in their cars this morning and drive back for the affair, only to say au revoir again to Atlanta friends and dash back to Macon, where a series of week-end affairs have been planned for them.

Helen and Elizabeth will return Spartanburg the first of the week to entertain visitors from New York, while Eloise returns here to her home on Peachtree road to say au revoir to her friends and relatives around for her to return to Atlanta to resume her studies at Wesleyan College in Macon. Helen goes to Mary Baldwin and Elizabeth is a student at Hollins and, with Eloise, they have had a grand reunion during their current visit, their friendship having begun when all were little girls in Spartanburg, where Eloise and her family lived before coming to Atlanta.

RACERS PREPARE FOR BIG EVENTS

Three entries from three different sections of the country have come in as early birds for the Labor Day AAA auto races at the Lakewood Speedway.

They are Port De Frates, Springfield, Ill., who took fourth in the 100-mile AAA race at the Illinois State Fair last Saturday; Floyd Hunt, St. Petersburg, Fla., Florida's "Crash King" of the dirt tracks, and Speed Goff, well-known veteran Alabama state champion, who figured in the seventh heat.

De Frates, known as "the chilling-eating firecracker" is one of the best drivers in the midwest and only Portuguese pilot in the racing game.

Hunt will drive a car engineered by Ted Chamberlain. He is a reckless chauffeur and has hit the cement wall at Tampa and crashed through the fence at De Land in his racing career.

COLLINS DENIES REPORT MICKEY TO JOIN RED SOX

Philadelphia Ledger Says Cochrane To Be Boston Pilot in 1940.

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Eddie Collins, general manager of the Red Sox, flatly denied today a published report that Gordon S. (Mickey) Cochrane was slated to come to the Sox as a catcher next year and as manager in 1940.

"Absolutely nothing to it," Collins declared. Owner Tom Yawkey did see Mickey in Chicago, Collins said, and advised Mickey to forget about baseball for the time being. Yawkey and the departed Detroit manager are close friends. Joe Cronin has a contract to manage the Red Sox through 1939.

Ledger Says Cochrane Slated Sox Catcher

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The Evening Ledger today says that Gordon S. (Mickey) Cochrane, former Detroit manager, definitely is slated as a catcher for the Boston Red Sox next year with the "fingers pointing to the managerial toga in 1940."

What actually determines position of the ball in football—where the knee touches the ground or where the ball rests after a player is down?

This is a moot question. And during every football season there are different interpretations, especially when a play around the goal line is involved.

Touchdowns have been taken away from teams because it was ruled the ball carrier's knee had hit the ground before he had completed a dive across the double stripes.

And yet, on the other hand, these plays occur time after time in a game and nine times out of ten position of the ball is determined by where it rests if the play occurs away from the goal line.

This conclusion is not reached by relying on memory for what has happened, but by looking at full-length pictures of games.

There was, for instance, a play in the Tech-Vanderbilt game of last season. Dutch Konemann late in the game was almost away for a touchdown. He was knocked down around the eight-yard line. Both knees hit the ground and he fell on across the five-yard line. The ball remained at that point.

Had Konemann fallen around the three and his knees had touched the ground, the ball likely would have been brought back to that point, even though in diving he had fallen on across the goal line with the ball.

This is a question the officials ought to settle, one way or another, before a new season starts. It will save headaches, arguments and genuine acrimony.

If a ball is allowed to remain three feet ahead of where a player's knee hit the ground-out in the field of play, it stands to reason the same thing ought to go on close plays at the goal line.

At any rate, one interpretation will do away with a lot of misunderstanding.

The answer, of course, why such strict application of the rule has been made on goal line plays is that these plays are more closely watched than plays out in the field.

Anyway, here's hoping the gentlemen who handle the games will get together and decide on one set method of determining position of the ball this fall.

ALEX PLANS A SURPRISE.

This is not intended as a give-away of any of Coach Bill Alexander's plans, but the word has leaked out that he is going to turn a thumb-sized player loose on the Yankees at Grant field tonight and let them try to catch him.

Alex has been keeping his midget speed merchant under wraps. The identity of this hop, skip and jump back is known, but his name will be kept a secret until he is sent into the fray.

The Northerners, coached by Joel Hunt, are favored over Coach Alex's Southerners tonight, but anything is apt to happen before the night is over.

A gathering of more than 7,000 fans is expected for the first all-star game between prep stars of the southern and northern divisions of Georgia.

THIS MAY BE THE ANSWER.

Will Buchanan is one of many fans who cannot understand exactly why it was Southern league managers couldn't figure Johnny Hill worth at least one vote in a recent poll to determine the most valuable player in the Southern league.

Mr. Buchanan pens a letter in which he says that it shouldn't be so surprising, at that. The letter follows:

"Dear Jack:
"I read with a great deal of interest your comment on the fact that Johnny Hill from Douglasville did not receive any vote from the Southern managers as the most valuable player in the league.
"You, nor I, nor Johnny, nor anyone else will worry very much about this. What do you expect from the other managers? Look what they picked the first of the season, and look

GAME TO BEGIN AT 8 O'CLOCK AT GRANT FIELD

Outstanding Georgia Prep Grid Players Form Opposing Elevens.

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY.
Football opens a new season here tonight when Joel Hunt's Northern prep all-stars battle W. A. Alexander's Southern eleven at Grant Field. Game time is 8 o'clock and tickets are selling for 40 cents in the north and south stands and one dollar in the east and west stands.

A crowd of 6,000 football-hungry people are expected to watch the game which will come as a climax to the first annual coaching clinic of the Georgia Athletic Coaches Association, which has been in progress for the last week. The two elevens were selected from the outstanding players of last season and represent cities from all over the state. Hunt's Yankees will demonstrate the single wingback formation while the Rebels will work from a short punt formation.

The two teams, despite their comparative short training period, are in tip-top condition and have made remarkable progress under the guidance of their various mentors.

"YANKEES" FAVORED.
On the eve of the classic, the Yankees are still given a slight edge over their rivals but many of the "experts" are shaking their heads wisely.

Heading the list of stars on the Rebel team will be five Lanier aces who will start the game. Bill Burt, end; Charlie McCullough, tackle, and Backe Joe Edwards, Stewart Richardson, and Nub Welch are all from the poet school. The Northerners will relegate with such players as Bobby Pair, speed demon from Tech High; Truck Kinsey, of Cornelia; Jimmy Hilton, of Canton, and Buster Brown, of Elberton.

The teams concluded pre-game drills yesterday and moved up from Rose Bowl field to Grant field, the scene of the battle.

Light work consumed the afternoon for both squads. Emphasis was placed on signals by both coaches who announced their boys were ready to go.

COMPETITION KEEN.

Competition has grown keen among the players and a real battle is in prospect. It will not be an awkward group of boys on the field tonight. Instead, two well-knit elevens will go into the battle looking as if they had seven weeks of practice instead of seven days.

Semi-final day of the coaching clinic was completed yesterday with lectures by Dell Morgan, of Auburn; Alexander, Hunt, George Griffin, Elmer Lampe and Selby Buck, Lanier coach.

This afternoon a golf tournament at East Lake will be held for the benefit of the delegates, who number well over a hundred. This is assured the success of the first annual clinic.

BUFORD BATTLES WICHITA TONIGHT

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 25.—The Buford Bona Allens will play the Wichita Water team Friday night at 8 o'clock in an effort to annex their sixth victory of the tournament with no defeats. If the still unbeaten Buford team can keep up its winning streak it will automatically enter the finals Sunday night.

In a pre-tournament game the Bona Allens defeated the Wichita Water team, 9 to 3. Manager Mickey Flynn, of the Water team, announced that Al Nusser, Jewish lad and big right-hander, would toe the slab for his team. Manager Abe White will be on the firing line for his team.

The Georgia team is favored to take the tourney in seven straight games. They have been runners-up for the past two seasons. Only seven runs have been scored against them and their last two victories have been shutouts. They have great pitching strength and are playing almost errorless ball.

The hitting attack is headed by the great Red McSwain, who is the leading hitter of the tournament, and Jerry McQuiga, another long-distance hitter.

Last night's victory was the best pitched game of the tournament. Cy Moore allowed Barrington, Maine, one scratch hit and only 28 men faced him.

Up Pops Jim Lindsey As Manager of Dayton Ex-Cracker Named by MacPhail To Get Ducks Into Mid-Atlantic Play Off.

By JACK TROY.
Jim Lindsey, the life of the party, has become manager of a baseball team at last, according to reliable reports. Big Jim is player-manager of the Dayton Ducks of the Middle Atlantic league and his job is to get the club in the play-off.

As Jim took over the club, they were in fifth place. A great chance is offered Lindsey. He virtually won Eddie Moore a job as manager of the Crackers at the end of the 1934 season.

WARREN MEETS SILVERTOWN NINE

Warren's baseball club will be host to the Silvertown nine, of Thomaston, Ga., on the Warren athletic field tonight in a game starting at 8:30 o'clock.

Silvertown has one of the best clubs in the Middle Georgia Textile league and is pushing the leader for first-place honors. Silvertown has always had a strong competitive ball club and this year's aggregation is one of the strongest in recent years.

The Thomaston club boasts several star players including Otto Louma, former big-league star, and Douglas Matthews, former Boys' High star who is now manager of the Thomaston club.

IN PLAY-OFF.

And MacPhail's next move was to name Lindsey as manager for the avowed purpose of getting the club in the Mid-Atlantic play-off. He'll probably make a success of it, too. At any rate, there won't be any dull moments on the Duck outfit.

They just can't keep that Lindsey down. He may wind up managing the Dodgers before it's all over. I wouldn't bet he won't.

DURHAM, N. C., Aug. 25.—(UP)—President W. G. Braham, of the National Association of Professional Baseball (Minor) Leagues tonight announced suspension of Manager Guy Sturdy, of the Marshall club, of the East Texas league, for 90 scheduled playing days as punishment for attack on umpire.

QUIST, BROMWICH GAIN SEMI-FINALS IN NATIONAL PLAY

Lower Bracket Is All Australian as Hopman-Schwartz Win.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 25. (P)—Adrian Quist and Jack Bromwich, the Australian Davis cup players, today upheld their top foreign seeding in the national doubles tennis tournament by gaining the semi-final round with an easy 6-1, 9-7, 6-2 triumph over Gardner Mulvey, of Miami, and George Tole, of Los Angeles.

Only once during the fast-played match did the visitors falter. In the 10th game of the second set Bromwich surrendered his service in a deuced game. That break kept the American youngsters going until the 15th when Tole, after being twice deuced, was cracked, just in time for Quist to run out the set.

The Australian players, who will oppose Don Budge and Gene Mako in the challenge round doubles match and are favored to do the same here in the national tie windup, performed in brilliant fashion throughout, especially the two-fisted swinger, Bromwich. They piled up 36 earned points, including five Quist service aces, against 24 and held their errors down to 51 against 74 for the American youngsters.

Budge and Mako gained the semi-finals yesterday, along with Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, the Austin, Texas, veterans, who have reached that point in this competition eight times in the last 10 years, winning twice.

The lower half's semi-final became an all-Australian affair after Harry Hopman and Leonard Schwartz qualified by defeating Yvon Petra and Bernard Destremau, of France, 6-0, 9-7, 8-6, in a match that became a thriller after a wretched start.

The Atlanta and Memphis teams are fighting it out for the championship of the last half of the negro American league race. With the season over next week, the victor of the present series, which ends with a twin bill Sunday, will just about clinch the second half.

The Yankees won the opener, 5 to 2. Lefty Gomez and Red Ruffing gave up a total of 11 hits in the two games. The Yankees knocked Johnny Allen out in the seventh inning of the nightcap.

The Senators took a firmer grip on fourth place in the American League, defeating the Detroit Tigers, 8 to 2, in the opener of a three-game series.

The Red Sox took both ends of a double-header at the Chicago White Sox, pounding out 16 hits for a 9-to-5 victory in the nightcap after Jack Wilson pitched a 1-to-0 shutout in the opener.

The Athletics and the St. Louis Browns divided a double-header. The Browns took the first, 8 to 3, in 13 innings, while the A's took the second, 4 to 1. Buck Ross pitched a five-hit game in the nightcap.

QUIST, BROMWICH GAIN SEMI-FINALS IN NATIONAL PLAY

Lower Bracket Is All Australian as Hopman-Schwartz Win.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 25. (P)—Adrian Quist and Jack Bromwich, the Australian Davis cup players, today upheld their top foreign seeding in the national doubles tennis tournament by gaining the semi-final round with an easy 6-1, 9-7, 6-2 triumph over Gardner Mulvey, of Miami, and George Tole, of Los Angeles.

Only once during the fast-played match did the visitors falter. In the 10th game of the second set Bromwich surrendered his service in a deuced game. That break kept the American youngsters going until the 15th when Tole, after being twice deuced, was cracked, just in time for Quist to run out the set.

The Australian players, who will oppose Don Budge and Gene Mako in the challenge round doubles match and are favored to do the same here in the national tie windup, performed in brilliant fashion throughout, especially the two-fisted swinger, Bromwich. They piled up 36 earned points, including five Quist service aces, against 24 and held their errors down to 51 against 74 for the American youngsters.

Budge and Mako gained the semi-finals yesterday, along with Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, the Austin, Texas, veterans, who have reached that point in this competition eight times in the last 10 years, winning twice.

The lower half's semi-final became an all-Australian affair after Harry Hopman and Leonard Schwartz qualified by defeating Yvon Petra and Bernard Destremau, of France, 6-0, 9-7, 8-6, in a match that became a thriller after a wretched start.

The Atlanta and Memphis teams are fighting it out for the championship of the last half of the negro American league race. With the season over next week, the victor of the present series, which ends with a twin bill Sunday, will just about clinch the second half.

STEPHENS MARKER UNVEILED BY U. D. C.

State Historian Reviews Career of Famed Confederate Leader.

CRAWFORDVILLE, Ga., Aug. 25.—(P)—Mrs. J. E. Hays, state historian, reviewed highlights in the career of Georgia's famed Alexander Stephens, vice president of the Confederacy, at the unveiling of a tablet at Liberty Hall today.

The tablet rests on a large boulder in the open gate before the Stephens home, Liberty Hall. The place is operated as part of the Alexander H. Stephens Memorial Park, a unit of the state parks division.

Mrs. Clyde Hunt, of the United States president of the Thomas Stephens Association, presided at the unveiling of the tablet.

The Crawfordville chapter of the U. D. C. unveiled the bronze tablet.

Restoration of the hall was begun by the state in 1933. Much of the original furniture was returned.

WAGE SCALE IS HIGH ON SCHOOL PROJECT

Pay for Regents Work Compares Favorably With Union Figures.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Aug. 25.—(P)—The Augusta Herald said today a check of wage scales prescribed on the new building at the University of Georgia School of Medicine here showed they were equal to the prevailing local scales.

Contractors and labor leaders both were checked by the newspaper.

They said the plumbers' scale of $1.12 an hour was the union scale here, the carpenters, bricklayers and electricians' scales, some covered by union contracts, others not, were also found to be in line, the Herald said.

The scale fixed for the new job is equal in all instances and in some cases higher than that fixed for the $400,000 Augusta filter plant now under construction, a check revealed.

OSTEOPATHS FIGHT DOCTORS' MEASURE

No Public Need for 'Basic Science Bill,' Georgia Group Declares.

MACON, Ga., Aug. 25.—(P)—Members of the executive committee of the Georgia Osteopathic Association at a called session here today adopted resolutions bitterly opposing enactment of the "basic science bill" proposed by the Medical Association of Georgia.

In their resolutions, the osteopaths said they opposed the bill "for the very good reason there seems to be no public need or demand for additional medical legislation at this time, nor does it seem to us the time will ever come when we will need the help and advice of the Chicago office of the American Medical Association or any other alien organization from another state, whose activities are intended to curtail the rights of Georgians in the selection of the kind of medical service they shall use."

The proposed bill would license to practice medicine only those who have passed examination in anatomy, physiology, chemistry, bacteriology and pathology. The measure also provides for a five-member state board, who would be examiners in the "basic sciences."

NEW TRIAL DENIED TO HARVEY NELSON

Fight Carried to State Supreme Court in Slaying of Son.

WAYCROSS, Ga., Aug. 25.—(P)—The case of Harvey Nelson, former roadhouse operator under death sentence in the slaying of his 12-year-old son, J. C. Nelson, headed for the state supreme court today.

Judge M. D. Dickerson denied new trials for Nelson and Sam Minney, under death sentence in the "backshot" slaying of Oliver Strickland.

Announcement of appeals to the state supreme court automatically started executions of both men, scheduled at Tannin prison tomorrow.

Dickerson passed until Saturday, hearing on a new trial motion for Verna Mae Fowler, pretty 18-year-old waitress employed by Nelson and under life sentence in the Nelson boy's slaying.

Nelson testified he, Miss Fowler and another waitress, Mary Kent, plotted the death of his son to collect double indemnity on a $468 life insurance policy. Miss Kent is awaiting trial.

Miss Fowler pleaded innocent at her trial and accused Nelson of shooting his son.

BAINBRIDGE HAILS NEW SHIPPING AREA

South Georgians Celebrate Inauguration of Barge Line on Flint.

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., Aug. 25.—(P)—A new shipping era dawned on the Flint river today as thousands of south Georgians celebrated inauguration of a new barge line between Bainbridge and New Orleans.

Arrival of two huge steel barges were delayed when they struck a snag down the river, but the government boat, on time, was hailed by a band of 200 negro singing songs of the old steamboat days.

H. T. McIntosh, editor of the Albany Herald, in a noon address reviewed the history of the Flint river and its part in the building of Bainbridge, Newton and Albany.

He asserted that while the progress of this section had been built largely on agriculture, its future material expansion would depend chiefly on industry.

Mayor Max Killeck, County Commission Chairman John E. Drake and Reuben M. Reynolds, president of the Bainbridge Chamber of Commerce, extended formal welcomes after arrival of the government boat. A land parade followed.

Festivities closed tonight with a coronation ball and crowning of the queen of the celebration.

The barge line is owned and operated by Charles J. King, of

FRIEND DRIVES TRUCK THAT KILLS WORKER

AUGUSTA, Ga., Aug. 25.—(AP) A 23-year-old WPA worker was killed here this afternoon when the motorcycle he was riding collided with a truck driven by one of his friends.

The victim was identified by Coroner R. Allen Elliott as William Luke. Deputy Sheriff Fred L. Powell said the truck was driven by B. F. Hambrick, a "buddy" of Luke. Hambrick escaped injury. Luke was en route to his home, only a short distance from the scene of the accident, when his vehicle collided head-on with the truck, Powell said.

Use of Federal Funds To Win Votes Scored by George in Decatur TalkEnemy of Relief Termed One Playing Politics With Misery.

By The Associated Press. Senior Senator George, fighting for renomination against avowed opposition from President Roosevelt and the New Deal, in a speech at Decatur struck boldly last night at the use of federal funds in influencing elections.

"There is only one enemy of relief work," he declared, in a speech at the courthouse square, "and that is the miserable creature who would play politics with human misery."

"There is one thing the American people will not stand for. They will not permit the use of their money appropriated for relief... for the purpose of destroying free election in America."

Raises Challenge. "And I raise the challenge, not only in Georgia but in America, free election shall not be destroyed."

Senator George made no direct accusation that federal funds had been used in Georgia in an effort to defeat him, but confined himself to a general criticism.

Earlier in the program Murphey Candler, introducing Senator George to the gathering, expressed confidence that "gold, silver, farm loans and the like" would not "separate the people of Georgia from real democracy."

Candler called George "a gentleman, scholar and one—thank God—who speaks the language of the people of Georgia."

Two weeks ago at Barnesville, President Roosevelt also referred to the senior senator as a gentleman and scholar, but added: "He and I do not speak the same language."

Cites Labor Record. Senator George made no direct reply in connection with the action last night of the Atlanta Federation of Trades which adopted two resolutions calling for withdrawal of endorsement of George by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, Charles Gramling, president of the state federation of labor, and the executive board of the AFL.

George referred to William Green only once, and then in connection with the latter's recent assertion that changes were needed to improve operation of the National Labor Relations Act.

The incumbent spoke in detail of his record on labor questions, citing support of the original recovery act, the first public works act, the railway retirement act, the labor relations act and relief legislation.

He defended his opposition to the original wage-hour bill as one which gave too great power to the administrative board, and asserted he had supported the revised wage and hour measure as it finally went to the President.

"I refused an invitation to filibuster against the second wage-hour bill," he said.

George is scheduled to speak at 11 a. m. today at Thomson.

SENATOR DRAWS RECORD CROWD

Sheriff Jake Hall, of DeKalb county, said last night the crowd which heard the campaign address of Senator Walter F. George in Decatur "was the largest political gathering ever held in DeKalb county."

He gave no figures. A sprinkling of hecklers made themselves heard at the outset of the speech, but they were soon quieted.

Senator George was presented by Murphey Candler, unopposed candidate for re-election to the state house of representatives.

M'RAE SAYS PLAN WOULD AID COTTON

Townsend Proposal, Candidate Declares, Is Method of Providing Cash.

BUTLER, Ga., Aug. 25.—(AP)—William G. McRae, seeking the senate nomination, built his argument for the Townsend plan today around a word illustration featuring cotton and straw mattresses.

Only lack of money in hand, he said, had caused "90 per cent of our farmers who have raised cotton all their lives" to "sleep every night on straw mattresses."

There is no overproduction of cotton, the candidate asserted, but an underconsumption, the principal cause of "our economic distress."

Use of Surplus. Returning to his illustration, the Atlanta attorney said if all the cotton on hand were made into mattresses for the cotton planters "the alleged surplus would be used up before half the cotton farmers were taken care of."

He said since the farmers cannot buy cotton mattresses for lack of money in the pocket, he proposed to supply this money by operation of the Townsend pension plan, the major plank in his platform.

Under the plan the pensions received from the federal government would have to be spent within 30 days after receipt. McRae said this "forced expenditure of money" would establish a "revolving business fund."

Would Supply Money. He contended that "we do not have to export any cotton to foreign countries," but instead "supply money to our people, as provided by the Townsend plan, and we can use our cotton at home and provide comforts to our own citizens."

The candidate came here from speeches at Buena Vista and Ellaville.

He said when the Townsend plan is passed "it will provide security to young and old alike in our nation."

"When it is passed," he continued, "the fears of all our people that old age will bring nothing but want and destitution will disappear and all our people will be at peace with each other and the world."

McRae, who has chided his opponents for "so much talk of democracy, the party and states' rights when one-third of the nation is ill-housed, ill-clad and ill-nourished," said he was the only candidate of the four who risked his life "to make the world safe for democracy."

TALMADGE CHARGES PRIMARY TRICKERY

Says Opponents Are Seeking to Dupe Voters to Gain Ballots.

LOUISVILLE, Ga., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Ex-Governor Eugene Talmadge, in a senatorial campaign speech here today, charged his opponents with "using persuasion, much coercion, and outright falsehoods in an effort to deceive and dupe the voters."

"They are sending paid political workers all over the state of Georgia," he said, "telling the Talmadge friends that while Talmadge is strong in that particular county, he is weak elsewhere, and that his supporters must join hands with the supporters of other candidates in order to defeat Mr. Lawrence S. Camp."

He told the gathering his supporters know Talmadge is the "strong man" in the race, that the opposition is split, and that "we will win on the first ballot without the necessity of a run-over."

"The supporters of Talmadge," he said, "are familiar with these old tricks, and ruses, and will not be deceived by them."

Talmadge pointed out he polled 134,695 votes in the last election, adding that this group alone,

"without the thousands of converts that we have in our present race, would elect us on the first ballot."

"They know that we have the county unit system in Georgia," he said, "and that the highest candidate in any county receives that county's entire county vote. My friends know that this is made to order for the election of Eugene Talmadge, when our opposition is split."

The ex-Governor said he was the "only candidate in the race" that "even pretends to have a platform," adding:

"Mr. Walter F. George is desperately trying to disentangle himself from the tentacles of the Georgia Power Company, but the people know that on June 6, 1933, he favored an amendment to the consumers of electric current. They know that he has been appointed by Fitzgerald Hall, president of the N. C. & St. L. railroad, as his candidate for the seat. The people have decided, though, that they will elect a senator to represent the people, and not Fitzgerald Hall, or the bureaucrats."
